CBI PROBE

SC refuses to quash FIR against DKS

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

IN a major blow to Karnataka deputy chief minister D K Shivakumar, the Supreme Court on Monday rejected his petition challenging the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI)'s first information report (FIR) against him in the disproportionate assets case. The Congress leader had moved the court after the Karnataka High Court declined his plea to quash the CBI case.

Rejecting Shivakumar's petition, a bench of justices Bela M Trivedi and Satish Chandra Sharma said it agreed with the high court order.

According to the CBI, Shivakumar amassed assets disproportionate to his known sources of income between 2013 and 2018. He was a minister in the previous Congress government during this period. The agency filed the FIR in September 2020 after obtaining sanction from the then BJP-led government. Shivakumar challenged it in the high court in 2021, but did not get a favourable order.

Senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi, appearing for Shivakumar, argued that the sanction was later withdrawn. Rohatgi further said there can't be a CBI FIR for the same transaction when the Income Tax department is already investigating the matter. The bench, however, did not agree.

Reacting to the Supreme Court's verdict, Shivakumar said in Bengaluru that he has done no wrong but will abide by the court's order.

Cabinet okays 10.5% pay hike to make it 27.5%

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE state cabinet on Monday decided to implement the recommendations of the Seventh Pay Commission with effect from August 1.

The commission headed by former chief secretary K Sudhakar Rao had recommended a 27.5% increase on the basic pay of employees.

The previous BJP government led by Basavaraj Bommai approved a 17% hike as interim relief. The Siddaramaiah government will now further hike by 10.5% to take it to 27% as recommended by the commission.

In the run-up to the Assembly elections, the Congress promised to implement the commission's recommendations. With this, the government will incur an additional expenditure of Rs 8,000 crore annually.

"We are happy with the government's decision as employees are eligible for benefits notionally from August 1, 2022. But the salary revision is effective from August 1, 2024. We expected it to be from April 1, 2024 and employees will miss four months' arrears. However, we are unhappy with the cabinet for not taking decisions on switching back to the Old Pension Scheme (OPS) from the New Pension Scheme (NPS) and the health benefits recommended by the commission. Our fight for these benefits will continue," state government employees' president CS Shadakshari said. OTHER DECISIONS: P5

SC junks review plea against its order on Adani

Chandrachud-led bench rules there is no error apparent in its January 3 judgment

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court has rejected a petition seeking review of its January 3 verdict dismissing a plea for a probe by the CBI or an SIT into allegations of stock price manipulation by the Adani Group as suggested by a report put out by US-based Hindenburg Research. "Having perused the review petition, there is no error apparent on the face of the record. No case for review under Order XLVII Rule 1 of the Supreme Court Rules 2013. The review petition is, therefore, dismissed," said a three-judge bench comprising Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud and justices J B Pardiwala and Manoj Misra.

The order was passed on May 8 and published on the apex court's website on Monday.

While dismissing the review plea, the apex court said that no case was made out by petitioner Anamika Jaiswal against its January 3 verdict. In that order, the SC had held that there was no valid ground to enter into the regulatory domain of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) and direct it to hand over its probe to an alternative agency as sought by petitioners in a batch of pleas, which relied on the findings of the Hindenburg Research report. "There was no material to show Sebi was lackadaisical in taking steps or had a regulatory failure, warranting a probe by a SIT or CBI," it said.

According to the review petition, there was fresh material to show the Adani Group violated Rule 19A of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Rules. The rule says listed companies need to maintain minimum public shareholding of 25% within specified periods. This factor, which was not considered in the January 3 judgement, needs a thorough probe, the review plea said.

The plea had said the markets regulator in its report had only updated the court about the status of the 24 investigations it undertook following the allegations, whether they were complete or incomplete, but did not disclose any findings or details of action taken.

In its January judgment, the SC noted that Sebi completed investigation in 22 out of the 24 matters. It also noted that the regulator was conducting a "comprehensive investigation" into the allegations and its conduct "inspires confidence".

CJI agrees to take his call on hearing money bill case soon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday agreed to consider commencing hearings on challenges to the passage of important laws like the Aadhaar Act as money bills, allegedly to bypass the Rajya Sabha.

A money bill can be introduced only in the Lok Sabha. Once Lok Sabha clears it with a simple majority, Rajya Sabha cannot amend or reject it. It can make recommendations, which may or may not be accepted by the Lower House.

The NDA does not have a majority in the Rajya Sabha. It currently has 101 seats in the 245-member House where 123 seats are needed for majority.

Senior advocate Kapil Sibal, representing the petitioners, told the bench comprising Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud and justices J B Pardiwala and Manoj Misra that since the matter is already in the list of scheduled Constitution bench hearings, it should be created on a priority basis. To this, the CJI said, "I will take the call when I form the Constitution benches."

A seven-judge Constitution bench has already been formed to hear the matter, but it has not yet commenced hearings. The judges had assured the petitioners that the court would start its hearings soon. In the 2018 Aadhaar judgment, the top court upheld the validity of the passage of the law as a money bill. However, Justice Chandrachud, had penned a dissenting verdict that said designating the Aadhaar legislation as a money bill was a "fraud on the Constitution".

Later in the day, the Congress welcomed the court's decision.

ASI FILES BHOJSHALA REPORT; VINDICATED, SAYS HINDU SIDE

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

THE Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) on Monday submitted to the Indore bench of the Madhya Pradesh High Court, its report on the 98-day scientific survey at the Bhojshala Temple-Kamal Maula Mosque in western MP's Dhar town.

"The detailed report comprising 2,000-plus pages in 10 volumes has been submitted to the HC, as directed by it on July 4. The next hearing is on July 22," the ASI/Central government's counsel Himanshu Joshi said.

While Joshi refused to divulge the contents of the report, senior advocate Vishnu Shankar Jain, who represents the petitioner, Hindu Front for Justice (HFJ), claimed the survey's outcome vindicated their stand.

"The ASI's report makes our case strong. We'll proceed to the Supreme Court for vacation of the stay order dated April 1, 2024, seeking an early hearing," Jain told this newspaper.

Jain's father Harishankar Jain had filed the writ petition in the matter in 2022. He said, "The ASI's report has now established that there was a Hindu temple and Vedas, Shastras and Sanskrit education was imparted at the gurukul (university) there. More than 94 broken sculptures/idols of Hindu gods have been recovered from there during the ASI survey."

Despite repeated attempts, Mohd Abdul Samad, the head of the Maulana Kamaluddin Welfare Society, who represents the Muslim side in the matter, could not be contacted.

KIA Road: Cops to book lane rule breakers from today

RAKSHITH GOWDA @ Bengaluru

TO reduce accidents and avert traffic snarls, Bengaluru Traffic Police (BTP) will strictly enforce lane discipline on the busy Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) Road (Bengaluru-Ballari Road - NH 44) from Tuesday. Those violating traffic rules and lane discipline will be penalised Rs 500. Lack of lane discipline among motorists is the main reason for traffic congestion and road accidents in the city.

DCP (North-Traffic) Siri Gowri told TNIE that the initiative was prompted by frequent traffic jams caused by heavy goods vehicles slowing down the movement of other vehicles on KIA Road. The enforcement area stretches from Kodigehalli flyover to Sadahalli in the limits of Yelahanka, Hebbal, Chikkajala and Devanahalli traffic police stations. Motorists violating lane discipline will be booked under Section 177 of the Indian Motor Vehicles Act and fined Rs 500, he said.

A senior traffic police officer said fines will be collected manually from the offenders using interceptors. Accidents happen when motorists fail to follow lane discipline and overtake other vehicles. Drivers of heavy goods vehicles should take the left lane, while others can take the central and right lanes, strictly adhering to speed limits, he added. After lane discipline was strictly enforced on the Bengaluru-Mysuru expressway, 6,406 cases were booked in 28 days in April-May.

40 LORRY LOADS OF WASTE ENTER BELLANDUR LAKE

Diversion channel filled with floating garbage cleaned; Trash gates must be erected, say officials

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING a moderate rainfall last week, around 40 tipper lorry loads of floating material flooded the Bellandur diversion channel. Officials fear that if the rain and inflow of such floating garbage continues, the bund could give way and dirty water and floating materials could enter the lake.

A contractor, who was carrying out the works at the lake, was engaged to remove the garbage from the channel.

Officials demand that trash gates be erected at the diversion canals and garbage be removed frequently.

Kavitha Krishna, Assistant Executive Engineer, BDA (Lakes), told TNIE that as the work is going on at Bellandur and Varthur lakes, the agency could get the diversion channel cleaned by using the labourers and machinery available and by engaging the same contractor.

"Trash gates should be installed at a few points on the 10-metre-wide diversion channel to save the lake in the long run. Once the lake development project is completed and the contractor leaves, finding men and material to clean such accumulated trash from the channel will be difficult. If the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB), which operates the sewage treatment plant, takes up the initiative, the pollution of the lake can be avoided," she said.

The state government and Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) were pulled up by the National Green Tribunal for poor lake maintenance and pollution, and Rs 500 crore escrow was imposed. A separate committee under former Lokayukta Justice Santosh Hegde was set up for monitoring and speeding up of development works at Varthur and Bellandur lakes.

Though the term of the committee ended two years ago, the work is yet to be completed. Recently, Prof TV Ramachandra from IISc, who is a former committee member of Varthur and Bellandur lake rejuvenation, expressed disappointment over slow work and failure by the revenue department in clearing the buffer zone and encroachments in the lake area.

AS many as 1,136 students were awarded degrees during the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) convocation on Monday. This year also saw the highest number of PhDs being awarded since the institute started. Along with this, 465 research degrees, 571 master's degrees and 100 undergraduate degrees were also conferred to the graduating batch. Gold medals were awarded to 57 students for academic excellence in different fields.

Viswanathan Anand, five-time world chess champion and Padma Vibhushan awardee, delivered the convocation address. Emphasising on the importance of intellectual agility in the ever-developing world, the chess grandmaster said, "In the world of chess, I've rarely seen individuals who thrive solely on one specialisation. The technology we interact with today requires a strategic approach, specialisation but not super-specialisation. It's crucial to have a diverse range of interests and skill sets. This will allow you to navigate and explore new challenges within your field if your primary skill encounters hurdles."

He added that it is vital to learn how to communicate with the world animatedly and excitingly, especially in today's time when misinformation is common. Individuals who do this without any facts are remembered but people who have all the facts are often not heard, Viswanathan said. Drawing similarities between science and chess, he highlighted that people in such fields often have the tendency to be amongst themselves "however, the acceptance and budgets come from elsewhere."

"It's important to learn how to communicate. If you don't say it someone else will and that will be the official version. In science it's probably harder as you (scientists) will face tough competition from WhatsApp University graduates," Viswanathan said. He added that one should learn to simplify and make their findings concise for others.

Addressing the gathering virtually, Kris Gopalakrishnan, Chair, IISc Council and co-founder of Infosys said with several emerging technologies today, India can become a global leader in various sectors. "Focusing on world-class research and translational research skills, we can fuel economic growth as well as create new jobs and new businesses. The country has the potential to have leaders for areas such as quantum technologies, AI for societal good and cyber-security systems," he said.

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike Administrator SR Umashankar said they are giving priority to comprehensive waste management for which several projects are being undertaken.

At a two-day workshop on 'Climate Action' in collaboration with BBMP C40 cities at Vikasa Soudha, he said,"To eliminate the problem of solid waste in the city, many initiatives have been adopted and work is being done to implement them all." He also said the state government has identified 50 to 100 acres of government land for integrated waste management. The process of handing over the land to the corporation is under way.

Mandatory segregation of wet and dry waste should be done in the city, he said and added that a waste-to-energy plant is being set up in the city and it will be put to operation soon.

"To prevent environmental pollution in the city, we have to initiate implement many plans. Greater priority will be given to greening across the city," he added.

Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said the global temperature is fluctuating a lot, which will greatly affect pollution levels. "We all have to work together to control pollution," he said. "We need to fix the disposal of building debris in the city. Dumping of building debris everywhere causes air pollution. Suitable measures should be taken for this."

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

16TH July : Everyone of us contains the entire zodiac, all twelve signs' worth. That means that in each of us there is a little bit of Taurus, a sign which helps keeps us grounded on planet Earth. Right now Taurean alignments suggest it's time to work on practical projects of the kind which benefit everybody.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
This is an ideal time to seriously think about implementing a number of long-term reforms in your private life. As usual, it's essential for your success that you involve partners in your plans, combining business with pleasure and perhaps organising a family gathering.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
A delicate relationship between Mercury and Venus will help you clear up a complex personal tangle. Friends will be able to appeal to your better nature and you'll be willing to listen to reason. Take extreme care where legal matters are involved and avoid any temptation to bend the rules.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Important decisions on domestic reorganisation should be settled by now. At least, you should have more idea of where recent develop-ments are taking you. Bear in mind that imagination and intuition will be more use to you than supposedly rational argument.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
While Venus and Mars are so active, you'll come out on top every time. Certain professional pressures may have apparently eased up, but if you've been placing too much emphasis on work commitments at the expense of home affairs - or vice versa - correct the imbalance before someone accuses you of letting them down.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The Moon's subtle association with your sign boosts your closest relationships but does give partners the last word. If you feel restless today then be sure to channel your energy more effectively, and don't let uncertainty at home have a debilitating effect on the more important areas of your life.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It's a busy moment, and you're bound to feel a little over-worked, but then, the more you achieve now, the less you'll have on your plate later in the week. Pay heed to any warning signals that point to an uncontrolled increase in your expenses, probably backed up by little more than the hope that your income will increase accordingly. Don't over-reach yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The Sun continues its smooth and helpful passage through beneficial regions of your chart, but there's a slight problem on the horizon associated with a nagging doubt or a spot of confusion. Close attention to the facts of the situation will keep you on the straight and narrow.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It's inevitable that you'll be involved in routine matters, tedious as they sometimes are, yet don't let this blind you to today's deeper potential. There's great scope for you to put your talents at other people's disposal. Later in the day your mind will start to buzz, and you could come up with a dramatic answer to an old question.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The time is soon approaching to consider the broader implications of your current personal plans, particularly finan-cial schemes. It will be necessary to collect all the information you need on the legal situation before next month. Your emotio-nal life looks expensive, but you must first decide whether a particular person deserves your generosity.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
On the whole, you'll do better now and over the next month or two if you see yourself as part of a team rather than a solitary adventurer. There'll be a number of occasions when you'll need moral support but today you could probably do with financial backing; there is now a very high chance of an increase in your income.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
When the Moon assists your sign, as it does today, it heightens your emotional sensitivity, making you feel that the odds are stacked against you. So this might not be the best day to sort out contentious emotional issues - or to get involved in trivial arguments. If you're changing jobs, steer clear of potential muddles.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
In many ways, your intensity and love of the truth as you see it makes you something of a loner. But, at times like these, there's every chance that somebody close to you will ful fil your deep need for genuine partnership. If you feel under pressure today, put off difficult questions for another forty-eight hours.

TACKLING DENGUE

Need to be extra vigilant till Sept, says minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HEALTH Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao on Monday said the state government is taking all measures to combat the spread of dengue, and everyone needs to be extra vigilant at least for the next two months till the end of the rainy season.

This year, 68,000 dengue cases have been reported, which is significantly higher compared to around 25,000 cases reported in the corresponding period last year, the minister informed the state legislative council.

He said the government has taken the situation seriously. Tests are being conducted extensively, and it has been declared a notifiable disease so that the government gets information about cases reported in private hospitals and various departments work together to deal with the situation, he added. Task forces have been constituted to combat its spread and the situation is reviewed at various levels, including a meeting chaired by the chief minister, he said.

The minister said if two or more dengue cases are reported from the same locality, it would be declared a hotspot, and fever clinics would be opened to conduct tests for people in surrounding areas, he said.

Treatment is free in government hospitals, the minister said and sought cooperation from all elected representatives to combat the dengue spread.

4 DIE IN HEAD-ON CRASH, SERIAL ACCIDENT ON NICE RD

3 killed as SUV speeding at 160 kmph rams vehicle; one dead in a four-vehicle pile-up

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FOUR persons lost their lives in two horrific accidents, including a serial mishap involving four vehicles, on NICE Road on Monday.

In the first incident, three persons lost their lives when their SUV, which was being driven at a speed of 160 kmph, jumped a road median and rammed head-on with another SUV. The accident happened near the Channasandra bridge around 3.30 pm. The deceased have been identified as Nanje Gowda (45), a private transport businessman; Vinod (36), the car driver and a member of a gram panchayat in Kanakapura, and HV Kumar (41), a member of a dairy cooperative. All were residents of Shivanahalli and Hanumanhalli villages in Kanakapura taluk. All three were coming towards Bengaluru en route to Goa.

Sivaramakrishna and Prasanna, who were in the second SUV, sustained injuries and were admitted to a hospital. Their lives were probably saved due to the presence of airbags which the other vehicle didn't have, police said.

The driver of the SUV was unable to see the road properly due to heavy rain. After he rammed the median, the vehicle shot over and collided with the oncoming SUV. The Kengeri traffic police have registered a case.

In another incident, a 42-year-old man died on the spot while five others sustained serious injuries in a serial accident involving four vehicles — a 16-wheel truck, a mini bus and two cars. The incident happened at Basapura bridge on NICE Road in Electronic City traffic police station limits around 9 am on Monday.

The mini bus rammed into a parked 16-wheel truck leading to the serial accident

Traffic movement was affected for almost an hour following the accident as police had to clear the wrecked vehicles using cranes.

The truck, bearing a Rajasthan registration number, was parked on the roadside near the Basapura bridge owing to a suspected mechanical failure. The driver of the mini bus, who was reportedly speeding, hit the lorry from the rear, and two cars that were behind it collided into it.

The deceased has been identified as Devaraj of Kunigal, who was working in a switchboard manufacturing factory in Bommasandra. He was sitting next to the driver of the mini bus, which was ferrying workers to the factory when the accident happened. Five others who were injured were also travelling in the mini bus. The victims are undergoing treatment in nearby hospitals for multiple fractures. The occupants of the two cars that rammed the mini bus escaped with minor injuries.

Around 9.16 am, Dr Ganesh Srinivasa Prasad, nephrologist and transplant physician, posted about the accident on X. "Shocked to see a live accident where a minibus and two cars collided on Nice Road. I failed to extract a person who was stuck in the seat and end of a truck bleeding profusely, struggling to survive, gasping (sic)", he posted.

Daughter, son-in-law feed insecticide to woman

PRAVEEN KUMAR @Bengaluru

A 36-year-old woman is battling for life at a private hospital after her daughter and son-in-law allegedly force-fed her insecticide for not giving them money to buy a vehicle. The incident happened at the victim's house in Anchepalya near Kengeri between 8.45 am and 8.50 am on Saturday.

V Asha is undergoing treatment in the intensive care unit of the hospital. The accused are Asha's daughter Sushmitha and the latter's husband Girish. Police have arrested Girish, who has been remanded in judicial custody, but are yet to formalise the arrest procedure of Sushmitha as she is a nursing mother having delivered a daughter just three months back.

The couple used to stay with Asha. On Friday night, the couple is said to have picked a fight with the victim for not giving them money. The next morning, they tried to murder her by forcibly making her drink insecticide. They then escaped after locking the door from the outside, leaving the victim to die. But Asha managed to call her sister and informed her of the murder attempt. The sister and other family members rushed to the house, broke open the door, and shifted her to the hospital. As it was a medico-legal case, the hospital reported the matter to the police, who took the statement of the victim. "The victim has a shop in KR Market and leaves home every day at 4.30 am. After work on Saturday, she was resting at her home. Girish is accused of attacking her. The accused held her tightly and forced her to drink poison," said an officer.

A case of attempt-to-murder under Section 109 of the BNS has been registered by the jurisdictional Kumalagudu police.

STORMY START TO MONSOON SESSION

- Ashoka calls ST Corpn official's suicide 'Cong govt-sponsored murder'
- Not in my nature to be afraid of politically malicious criticism, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS the monsoon session of the legislature commenced on Monday, the Opposition BJP and the Congress exchanged heated arguments over the alleged multi-crore scam in the Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Schedule Tribes Development Corporation Ltd (KMVSTDCL). Senior BJP MLA and Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka termed the suicide of the corporation's accounts superintendent P Chandrashekaran, as a "Congress government-sponsored murder".

In a blistering attack on the Congress State Government, Ashoka alleged that the scam involving officials, middlemen, and hawala operators was a preplanned one, with former minister B Nagendra and the corporation's chairperson Basanagouda Daddal being the key accused. "Poor Nagendra might have pocketed 20% of the money, and the rest has gone somewhere else. He admitted before the Directorate of Enforcement that the money has been spent on the Lok Sabha polls," Ashoka said.

CM Siddaramaiah, however, took strong exception. "Wrong messages should not reach people. Neither Nagendra nor anyone else had admitted this... ED had mentioned it in its remand application submitted to the court. It is not a Rs 187 crore scam, as Rs 89.67 crore was transferred illegally to the corporation's account in UBI Bank's MG Road branch," he said. The BJP MLAs in unison raised their voices, saying Siddaramaiah had admitted to the scam. They mocked the LoP in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi as the corporation's money was being transferred illegally to the benami accounts 'khata-khat'. During the 2024 Lok Sabha election campaign, Congress MP Rahul Gandhi had said if his party came to power women from the weaker section will 'Khata-Khat' (quickly) get Rs 8,500 per month.

Siddaramaiah clarified that he is not defending any person, as he is ready to give full details in his reply later.

Ashoka said ED intervened because hawala players were involved in the transaction of money from one state to another. He alleged that the State Government took the life of Chandrashekaran and sent a message that an honest officer like him should either end his life or resign. Ashoka said Siddaramaiah's image as a good finance minister in the past has taken a beating as he is helpless this time. Ashoka alleged that corporation MD JG Padmanabha and Nekkunti Nagaraj, said to be a close aide of Nagendra, had executed the scam at the behest of the former minister and Daddal. "There is enough evidence, including telephonic conservation. But the government, including DyCM DK Shivakumar, is not ready to accept it," Ashoka said. Shivakumar intervened and said he was convinced that Nagendra was not a party to the case, but resigned from his post voluntarily.

Ashoka also took the Finance Department to task as to why it didn't keep a tab on the alleged illegal transaction despite there being a scope for it. "In an order issued on January 30, 2017, the Finance Department can keep a vigil on non-treasury transactions of boards and corporations," he said.

He alleged that there are instances of IAS officers misusing the government's money by transferring it to private and cooperative banks to help sugar factories get a cut of 5–10%.

CM Siddaramaiah said that there is no need to refer the scam to the CBI for a probe as the SIT set up by his government has completed three-fourths of the investigation. "We are still ready to discuss the issue so that the people of the state do not get the wrong message," he said. Vijayapura City BJP MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal, however, insisted on a CBI probe. The CM asked why the BJP did not refer the case involving its MLC DS Veeraiah to the central agency. "There is no need for adjustment politics. Both parties should come clean... give it to the CBI," Yatnal said.

"How true are the allegations of the opposition parties? How much lies? We will bring it to light in this House. It is not in my nature to sit quietly, afraid of politically malicious criticism," Siddaramaiah said in a post on 'X'.

There used to be scams of two per cent, three per cent and 10 per cent but the Valmiki Corporation scam beats all. This is the '100 per cent Khata-Khat' scam — R Ashoka, Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly, during the adjournment motion in the House

BJP MLCs RUSH INTO WELL OF HOUSE

The Council session began on the opening day of Monday in the afternoon with members of the opposition -- BJP, JDS, who are allies -- rushing into the well of the House seeking permission to speak on misappropriation of funds in the Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation Limited. Newly appointed Opposition leader in the Council, CT Ravi, and senior BJP leader Ravi Kumar raised the issue of crores of rupees missing from the corporation. They said the funds are meant for the development of poor Scheduled Tribe community members. The funds were diverted in big tranches and deposited into 700 accounts, using former minister B Nagendra. "Who are the people who received the money in Telangana and how was it siphoned off systematically," BJP leaders asked, and sought answers from the government.

ST Corpn chief Daddal arrives to attend session

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHAIRPERSON of scam-hit Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation Ltd Basanagouda Daddal, who was inaccessible for the last few days, arrived at the Vidhana Soudha to attend the monsoon session of the legislature on Monday.

Daddal, who is Raichur Rural Congress MLA, told reporters that he was not absconding but was at his village.

Daddal further said that he has not received any notice from the Directorate of Enforcement (ED) in connection with the alleged Rs 94 crore misappropriation at the corporation.

The ED had recently raided several locations allegedly belonging to Daddal and former minister B Nagendra. Nagendra, who was the Scheduled Tribes Welfare minister in the Siddaramaiah Cabinet, has been arrested.

While the State government constituted a Special Investigation Team (SIT) to probe the alleged irregularities, the ED and the Central Bureau of Investigation are also probing the case.

Meanwhile, Assembly Speaker UT Khader informed the House that Nagendra has been arrested by ED under the Money Laundering Act.

BJP seeks disqualification of Congress MP Tukaram

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Ballari

BALLARI BJP leaders are planning a protest demanding the disqualification of E Tukaram, who was elected Congress MP from undivided Ballari district in the recent election. They charged that former minister B Nagendra, who has been arrested by the Directorate of Enforcement (ED) for his alleged involvement in the ST Welfare Corporation scam, used ill-gotten wealth from the corporation to distribute among voters in the Lok Sabha election. The BJP leaders alleged that ED has proof of Nagendra misusing the funds during the Parliamentary elections. They will soon submit a memorandum to the Election Commission of India (ECI) through the Ballari deputy commissioner to disqualify Tukaram, they added The BJP leaders said they staged a protest on the same issue recently under the leadership of former minister B Sriramulu. The ED inquiry has proved how Nagendra helped Tukaram win the election, they said.

"We submitted a letter to the deputy commissioner, who is also the chief election officer of the district, to disqualify the MP," they added.

Minister slams Centre over NEET, says students punished

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

MEDICAL Education Minister Dr Sharan Prakash Patil on Monday said lakhs of students are facing hardships owing to the Centre's bungling in holding NEET. Responding to Congress MLC Ivan D'Souza's, Patil accused the Centre of initially trying to cover up irregularities. It later admitted irregularities and FIRs have been registered in many states, he said. "The NEET is being conducted by the Centre after passing the bill in both houses of the parliament and even the Supreme Court upheld it. So only the parliament can bring amendments," he said.

AIIMS: 'Centre meting out step-motherly treatment'

Debate over difference in rice procurement price

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BJP MLC N Ravi Kumar on Monday questioned the State Government over the difference in prices of rice procured by the Food & Civil Supplies and Education Departments.

The BJP MLC said that the Education Department is procuring rice at Rs 29.3 per kg, while the Food and Civil Supplies Department is paying Rs 34.6 per kg. "Why this difference in the same government? Why is the Food and Civil Supplies Department paying more? Where is this money going," the BJP legislator asked.

The Education Department is procuring rice for Akshara Dasoha, while the Food and Supplies Department for its Anna Bhagya scheme. The difference is around Rs 5 per kg and nearly Rs 120 crore is being looted, he said.

If the quality of rice procured by the Education Department is not good, it raises serious concerns, he said.

Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa said they are procuring rice from three Central government agencies. "The Centre refused to give rice to us though it had stocks. We are procuring rice from central agencies through a tender at the price fixed by them. We are giving A-grade rice," he said.

The Centre incurs a loss of around Rs 12 per kg by selling rice at Rs 28 per kg. The Centre has 2 crore tonnes of stocks, he said.

After the minister blamed the Centre, BJP and Congress members engaged in a heated exchange. Congress members accused the Centre of not giving rice to Karnataka.

The BJP members accused the State Government of trying to divert attention. Ravi Kumar said money is being looted by the government. A probe should be ordered to look into it and they must discuss the issue in detail in the Council, he added.

AI-enabled cameras mark attendance of legislators on Day 1

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FOR the first time, the recording of attendance of legislators in the Assembly has been given an AI touch. Artificial intelligence-enabled cameras have been installed at all the three doors through which MLAs enter the House. All these cameras and another one installed outside the House record faces of MLAs and give real-time data as to how many minutes or hours MLAs were inside the House.

Speaker UT Khader had earlier announced that MLAs who sit inside the House for longer hours would get an award. On Day One of the Monsoon session on Monday, MLAs were seen queuing up to record their face for these cameras. The cameras inside and outside the House also record how many times MLAs entered and exited the House and how many hours they sat inside. Many interior works have been carried out and a new main door, carved out of rosewood, has been installed at the west side entrance of the Soudha. Expressing appreciation for the works, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said the west side entrance of Vidhana Soudha is from where most MLAs and ministers enter. The earlier metal gates of this entrance have been replaced with the rosewood door. The Preamble of the Constitution has been carved next to the entrance. "Putting up the Preamble is apt. All of us are lawmakers and take oath in the name of the Constitution," the CM said. There have been some renovations and changes in the interiors, including a thick green carpet for the corridor and glass panes that cover open spaces. Clocks hanging inside the House and at the entrances have been made in the shape of Gandaberunda, which is the state's emblem. Khader said, "Vidhana Soudha is known globally and many people from across the country and world visit us. We are planning minor makeovers in phases."

CAUVERY: TN GOVT CALLS ALL-PARTY MEETING TODAY

CM Stalin not to participate; Irrigation Minister to chair meet

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

STRONGLY condemning the stance taken by the Karnataka government on releasing Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu, Chief Minister MK Stalin announced on Monday that a meeting of all the legislature parties in Tamil Nadu will be held on Tuesday at the secretariat to decide the next course of action.

The meeting will, however, be chaired by Water Resources Minister Duraimurugan and not the Chief Minister. This is perhaps the first time that the Chief Minister will not be participating in such an all party meeting. Besides, legal experts will also be consulted on the next move, the Chief Minister said in a statement.

In his statement, the CM said as per the directives of the Supreme Court, the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CMWA) and Cauvery Water Regulation Committee (CWRC) have been formed to implement the final award of the Cauvery Water Disputes Tribunal and the SC. However, since the Karnataka government failed to release water as per these directives last year, the farmers in Tamil Nadu were put to great hardship and the state government received the water by approaching the Apex Court.

The CWRC has directed that Karnataka should release one tmc of water per day between the period July 12 and 31 to Tamil Nadu. The committee gave this direction after taking into account the inflow into the Karnataka dams due to the southwest monsoon. "However, the Karnataka government's refusal to release this quantity of water is shocking and is violative of the SC order. Following this, the Tamil Nadu government has written to CWMA, seeking to implement the order of the committee immediately," the CM said.

As of Monday, the total storage level in the four dams of Karnataka stands at 75.586 tmc and as per the meteorological department's forecast, the rainfall during the southwest monsoon for Karnataka would be normal.

FARMERS WANT TN TO RESUME LEGAL BATTLE FOR WATER SHARE

Tiruchy: With the Karnataka government on Sunday announcing that it would release 8,000 cusecs of River Cauvery water daily to Tamil Nadu as against 1 tmcft ordered by the Cauvery Water Regulation Committee (CWRC), farmers insist that the Tamil Nadu government must resume its legal battle in the Supreme Court to get the share of the river water due for the state. Swarnimalai S Vimalnathan, secretary of the Tamil Nadu Cauvery farmers' protection association, said, "While the Supreme Court has already stated that all such disputes must be amicably resolved through the CWMA, the body has been criticised for its lack of neutrality and biased actions.

T'GANA OPPOSES DIVERTING GODAVARI AT ICCHAMPALLY

Hyderabad: Telangana opposed the diversion of Godavari waters at Icchampally for Godavari-Cauvery link project. The Telangana proposed to diverge the water from Sammakka barrage instead. Attending the 73rd Governing Body Meeting of National Water Development Agency (NWDA) virtually from Hyderabad on Monday, the Telangana engineer-in-chief G Anil Kumar wanted the Centre to allocate 50% of the water to be diverted from Godavari to Cauvery to Telangana. He said that if Godavari water is diverted from Icchampally, then Telangana would face backwater issues.

Previous YSRC govt looted land worth ₹35,576 cr, alleges CM Naidu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

STATING that the previous YSRC regime looted all the natural resources and swallowed the lands and mines besides causing great damage to the forests in the past five years, Andhra Pradesh CM N Chandrababu Naidu said irregularities related to lands stood at Rs 35,576 crore so far. "It is only a preliminary estimate, but the real extent of the loot of natural resources in the state by the previous regime could be much more," he said.

Releasing the White Paper on Misappropriation of Natural Resources - Land, Mines, and Minerals and Forests at the state secretariat on Monday, Naidu announced to rollout of a new AP Land Grabbing Act on the lines of the Gujarat Land Grabbing Act 2020.

CM N Chandrababu Naidu releases white paper on misappropriation of natural resources on Monday | EXPRESS

Under this Act, land grabbers will have to prove themselves as the land owners, he said and made it clear that severe action will be taken against all those who indulged in such illegal activities like plundering the natural resources, looting people and the government properties.

Explaining the alleged looting that took place in the last five years with a power point presentation, Naidu called upon people to come up with complaints if their lands were grabbed or facing litigation and also about the forceful occupation by the then ruling party leaders on their mines during the previous regime so that the government could enquire and do justice to them. He also announced to set up a toll-free number for receiving complaints.

Naidu further announced that the Land Resurvey taken up by the previous YSRC government will be stalled and issued directions to the officials at the meeting itself. Regretting that the red sanders stocks were completely looted bringing down the vigilance and forest staff strength, the CM said that quarries were illegally grabbed threatening the owners.

Why duplicate keys to Ratna Bhandar? Probe needed: Odisha minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bhubaneswar

A day after the Bhitara Bhandar of Shree Jagannath temple in Puri was opened by breaking three locks, Odisha Law Minister Prithiviraj Harichandan on Monday said controversy surrounding the missing keys and existence of duplicate keys which do not match the locks need a fresh probe.

Speaking to mediapersons in Puri, Harichandan said, "Why are the spare keys of the inner Ratna Bhandar termed as 'duplicate' should also be investigated. The keys handed over to the expert committee for opening the locks did not match. Even on a casual look, one could witness the mismatch between the locks and the keys."

> Why are the spare keys of the inner Ratna Bhandar termed as 'duplicate' should also be investigated
>
> Prithiviraj Harichandan, Odisha Law Minister

The minister's statement came at a time when there is a demand for the BJP government to make Justice (Retd) Raghubir Dash committee report on the missing keys public.

Following public outcry over the issue, the previous BJD government had in 2018 set up a commission of inquiry under retired Orissa High Court judge Raghubir Dash to investigate the missing keys.

On April 4, 2018, the government had attempted to reopen the Ratna Bhandar for a physical examination but the effort was unsuccessful due to missing keys.

In Opposition during that time, the BJP had vociferously demanded the BJD government to make the judicial commission report public so that the real culprits behind the missing keys could be taken to task.

During the election campaign, Prime Minister Narendra Modi too, had not spared the Naveen Patnaik government on the emotive issue. Suspecting involvement of the BJD in the missing keys case, Modi had promised that the BJP government upon coming to power would make the report public.

Responding to queries, Harichandan who is in Puri along with two of his cabinet colleagues on the directive of Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi to monitor the return car festival and Niladri Bije, said a suitable date for reopening of the inner Ratna Bhandar would be taken after the completion of Rath Yatra.

"We will let you know about the reopening of the Ratna Bhandar, inventorisation of valuables stored in it and shifting of the same to the temporary Ratna Bhandar, in due course of time," the minister added.

Man held for duping MBBS aspirants

ENS @ Belagavi

BELAGAVI police have arrested a man for allegedly collecting Rs 1.08 crore from students, who had appeared for NEET, promising them MBBS seats in well-known medical colleges. The police have recovered Rs 12 lakh cash, 15 computers, one laptop and five mobile phones from him. The accused has been identified as Aragonda Arvind alias Arun Kumar from Telangana. A police team from Belagavi arrested Arun Kumar in Mumbai and produced him before a local court on Monday. The court remanded him in judicial custody. DCP Rohan Jagdish told reporters that the police team tracked Arun Kumar's movements by monitoring his driver's cellphone and nabbed him in Mumbai.

He said that a cheating case was filed against Arun Kumar at the Market police station in Belagavi in November last. Investigations revealed that Arun Kumar targeted students, who scored less marks in NEET, and made them and their parents believe that he will get MBBS seats and took money from them. In Belagavi alone, he collected Rs 1.08 crore. After passing an MBA course, Arun Kumar took to crime.

Seven cases have been registered against Arun kumar at Panjagutta police station and four in Jubilee Hills police station in Hyderabad, one case each in Ashok Nagar and RT Nagar police stations in Bengaluru, and one case in Bhopal.

Patient trapped in lift for 42 hrs at T'Puram hosp

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ T'Puram

"IT was a near-death experience for me. In the darkness, I lost track of time. I think I even saw my ancestors," recounted Raveendran Nair, who was trapped inside a lift at the Government Medical College Hospital, Thiruvananthapuram, for two nights. When the lift door finally opened on Monday, after an agonising 42-hour wait, the 59-year-old was also thankful to the lift operator, saying he seemed like a savior sent to rescue him.

What started as a routine hospital visit on Saturday to treat a backache turned into a nightmare for Raveendran, an Ullur resident and local secretary of CPI in Thirumala. Unsuspectingly, Raveendran entered lift number 11 located near the hospital superintendent's office around noon to show his medical report to an orthopedic doctor on another floor.

"There was no sign board indicating maintenance. There was good lighting inside the lift as well, but no lift operator," said Raveendran, a temporary employee of the Legislative Assembly. The lift went up, almost reaching the second floor, and then came down with a thud and was suspended between the two floors.

Panic-stricken, Raveendran picked up his mobile phone which fell down, but couldn't make calls as it was damaged. "The lights went off. I tried to call the helpline number using the phone inside the lift and also pressed the panic button repeatedly, but received no response," he said. Resigning himself to fate, he lay down using his bag as a pillow, finding solace only in the ventilation. He struggled to keep track of time without a functioning phone. "Each hour felt like a day. When I was finally freed, I thought it was already July 20," he said.

Taking medication for hypertension, Raveendran had no water or medicine with him. He couldn't help but think about what would have happened if a pregnant woman or a cancer patient had experienced such an ordeal. He was finally rescued by a passing lift operator, who noticed the unusual position of the lift, around 6am on Monday. The lift operator opened the door and asked Raveendran to jump out. He is under observation at a ward in MCH.

CATALOGUE PURI TEMPLE TREASURES WITH CARE, FOCUS ON CONSERVATION

BY reopening the Puri Jagannath temple's Ratna Bhandar on Sunday, the Odisha government has ended a 46-year-old quest to catalogue the treasures of the 12th century shrine. An 11-member expert committee broke open three locks of the treasury's inner chamber, whose contents were last inspected and audited in 1978. The BJP state government made elaborate arrangements as it fast-tracked the process—devising protocols for reopening in consonance with temple laws and tending to the logistical priorities. The exercise was followed with great curiosity from across India.

It is no small feat, considering the big narrative built around the issue for the last six years—since a reopening was unsuccessfully attempted in 2018. In the recent general elections, the BJP reaped rich electoral dividends by making the Ratna Bhandar reopening a major poll plank against the Biju Janata Dal. What makes the achievement even more momentous is that five chief ministers—under Congress, Janata Dal, NDA and BJD regimes spanning over four decades—had remained reluctant to open the treasury of one of India's most revered places of worship for audit. By making it happen, the four-week-old Mohan Majhi-led government has broken through a long-held political and administrative resistance to the idea.

Having delivered on its promise, the BJP government must take this forward with care. It must investigate the curious case of the keys, which were in possession of the district treasury, failing to open the locks to the inner chamber, prompting the use of cutters. The status of the original keys must not be left to speculation and any semblance of foul play must be eliminated with a probe. Similarly, after the valuables are shifted, the Ratna Bhandar must be handed over to the Archaeological Survey of India for assessment and conservation. Its structural safety and restoration is a top priority and the most fitting conservation strategy must be adopted. Every content of the treasury must be thoroughly examined and matched with the audited list from almost half a century back. Any mismatched or missing article should be taken up with utmost seriousness. The contents of the treasury are an invaluable link to the history of Odisha, Kalinga, Odra and the many other avatars the state has gone by through the ages. Now they can help unravel unknown chapters from its glorious past.

LEO MESSI TRANSCENDS FATE, FOOTBALL HISTORY

THERE was a point in Lionel Messi's career when it looked like the holy grail would elude him forever. Messi had featured in four major cup finals for Argentina, including at the 2016 Copa America but had been thwarted each time. After that 2016 final, he decided enough was enough and announced a shock retirement amid a flood of tears. To rub salt, he saw his great rival Cristiano Ronaldo play a part in Portugal winning the European Championships three weeks later. The noise had become toxic as even his compatriots openly questioned whether he cared enough. At the peak of his powers, one of the world's greatest players was mocked because of an inability to deliver gold for his country's senior team. Those accusations seem like a footnote today. It's almost unreal how this late-stage Messi has gone on to rival that other great Argentine legend—Diego Maradona—in terms of winning big titles for his country. After Sunday night's Copa America final—won dramatically thanks to an extra-time goal by Lautaro Martinez—Messi has now won four senior cups, including the 2022 Finalissima or European-South American Nations Cup, in the last three years.

While the 37-year-old's role in this edition of Copa America was, at best, a supporting one, he retains the respect of his side. The effect of his understated approach to leadership is there for all to see. The moment Martinez scored the goal, Messi, who had taken a nasty knock on an ankle before being subbed, was hugged—the players wanted to win it for him. This period of Messi will be remembered as when he shut down the remaining haters. He has also ended the debate about the best player in the world.

Will his body stay the course for two more years for a World Cup on US soil? Will he even want to push for it? These are questions only he can answer, for Argentina will leave that call to their captain. For the time being, the genius continues to adapt and move with the times. This time, the Finalissima will be between continental giants Argentina and Spain—old vs new, Messi vs Lamine Yamal. Spain's victory against England in the Euro 2024 final established it as the team to look out for. For now, let's enjoy some Messi magic till he announces his retirement.

QUICK TAKE

CANNON TO THE RIGHT

US federal judge Aileen Cannon has dismissed the case against Donald Trump that showed he had kept classified documents after leaving office and then allegedly conspired to avoid giving some of them back. The judge was chided earlier in the case by a higher appellate court for an inappropriate procedural judgement. Now, her ground for dismissal—that the prosecutor, Special Counsel Jack Smith, was not appointed through proper procedure—threatens to upend all other federal cases against Trump. The dismissal of such landmark cases on procedural grounds would reflect poorly on at least one branch of the US government, depending on whether Cannon's ruling survives on appeal.

The number of Indians aged 60+ is growing fast. With such a large cohort, it is time policymakers and marketers took note of the silver lining in an ageing India

THE FORTUNE AT THE TOP OF THE AGE PYRAMID

HARISH BIJOOR

Brand Guru & Founder, Harish Bijoor Consults

SOURAV ROY

THE writing is on the wall: India is ageing rapidly. The hitherto 'youngest nation of the world' will become a nation of older people sooner rather than later. Better healthcare, preemptive management of health and the proactive wellness movement all around us will spur this trend further into becoming a nation of older people.

Data out in public domain claims we were a nation of 149 million people above the age of 60 on July 1, 2022, which means 10.5 percent of our population was in this age group. Two years have passed since, and this number must have grown. The prognosis for the years ahead seem robustly tilted to the 60+ segment. A United Nations estimate says India will host 227 million—15 percent of its population—of the 60+ by 2036. This balloons to 347 million by 2050. By the end of the century, India is set to be a nation that has 36 percent of its population as those above 60. Sixty is therefore a number to behold and cherish, a number to focus our future efforts on.

The population of 60+ Indians beats the population of all of Russia today. That's quite large. In terms of sheer numbers, when you manage a population as large as that, it is time for everyone to wake up and take note of grey-haired folks in our midst. This holds good for governments, policymakers, the private sector, and, importantly, marketers who cater to the needs and wants of this segment. Not very strangely, each of these disparate segments that manage our politics, the economy, our culture and literally every dynamic of living society tend to get very biased against the 60+.

There seems to be a 'productive' and a 'non-productive' mindset in many. This is wrong. Those in the obvious earning age (right up to 58) are treated differently while those above it are looked at with a different lens altogether. The moment a man or woman retires, they seem to be treated differently. Literally dropped like a hot potato by the policymaker and the marketer alike. The very paradigm-oriented definition of the 'productive person' itself seems to be so wrong, and skewed to 'digit-demographics', rather than 'spirit-demographics', as I will call it. Time to sit up and smell the burn.

The strange thing in our society is that politics is run largely by people above 60, and the rest of all policymaking, commerce, marketing and more is run by those with a mindset skewed to younger demographics. Mostly 'digit-demographics' evangelists.

I strongly believe that the future is here. India and its numbers are telling us the story of today and what tomorrow will be like. Policymakers in the government need to sit up and plan to cater to the needs, wants, desires and aspirations of the 60+. This segment is today a free-spirit animal. Having gone through the ruckus of leading a life of the 'gruhastha', putting a family together and taking care of it, this segment is today going through the empty-nest syndrome with enough money to plan for investments and spends equally that can spur the economy further.

The 60+ is a segment with money in hand, time in hand and a mindset that is far more inclusive and expansive than that of the youngster still earning and saving and wanting to invest in a car or a flat to cater to his, her or their immediate need. This ignored segment of Indian society is really at the self-actualisation point, with a philosophy of contribution to society and economy that is more expansive than any before.

Marketers equally need to sit up and smell the future of spending and where it is going to come from. While every marketer will admit they have plans for this segment, I think it is time to re-leverage your plans and yank it out of the somnolence and the rut of thinking of the "productive" class mindset. Marketers need to cater not only to the wants, needs, desires and aspirations of the 60+, but even to their fantasies. With due apologies to Dr C K Prahalad, I would like to say, "There sure is fortune at the top of the (age) pyramid." If nothing else, this fortune needs to get the marketer to re-think and re-leverage their attitude to the new Indian demographics and the challenge it poses.

Both policymakers and marketers need to think beyond the basic needs of the 60+ folk. The basic needs and wants are givens. These are lowest-common-denominator items. The obvious categories of healthcare, caregivers, safety, commute and more are but the obvious building blocks. On this, one needs to build for the entertainment needs, social interventions, social inclusion and social networking needs of this segment.

The traditional marketing thoughts on items such as segmentation, targeting and positioning need to change radically in India. This business of saying 'if I show the grey in my advertising, my brand looks old' needs to change. The important thing to remember is society today (and more so tomorrow) is looking like an equal representation of the black-haired, the salt-and-pepper and the fully grey.

Both the policymakers at the level of the government and the marketers equally need to think and plan for every rung of the economic hierarchy of the 60+ generation. We have the rich, the middle-class and the poor in this segment. Solutions offered need to cater to each of these segments in keeping with their numbers. There are opportunities in each segment. The poor and the older (not old) have their own challenges, as do the rich and the older. Both need to be addressed with sensitivity, care, passion and empathy.

I have always maintained that what we don't know is more important than what we know. As we stand in the middle of 2024, I do believe policymakers and marketers are stuck within the paradigm of what we know. Caught on the treadmill and the existential 'chakravyuh'. What we don't see is really more important than what we see and act upon today. Time to open our eyes and look at two things we don't really see. The first is the opportunity and new needs of the Alpha generation (those born between 2010-2025) in our midst and ahead of us, and the second is the opportunity represented by the 60+ generation. These two segments will polarise attitudes, consumption and usage of public service, products, services and brands alike. The better public policy plan will be the one that includes these two segments of our brand new society. The better marketing plan will also be the one that does this right. Right now. Let's act folks.

TRADE, TECH & SUSTAINABILITY: ENGINES FOR LONG-TERM GROWTH

CHANDRAJIT BANERJEE

Director General, Confederation of Indian Industry

FINANCE and Corporate Affairs Minister Nirmala Sitharaman is poised to set a historical precedent. When she presents the complete Union Budget for 2024-25 on July 23, she will become the first finance minister to present seven consecutive budgets.

The Interim Budget of February underscored the government's commitment towards realising the goal of being Viksit Bharat or a developed country by 2047. The full Budget is expected to further strengthen these initiatives and drive the growth momentum while presenting a comprehensive strategy for long-term economic growth.

As India's development partner, the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) has been actively engaged in providing constructive policy recommendations to the government and has submitted key proposals for the 2024-25 Budget. Here, I would like to focus on three critical areas—trade, technology and sustainability, which play catalytic roles in fostering inclusive, sustainable and long-term economic growth and are pivotal in charting India's path towards becoming a developed nation.

Trade

India's external sector has recorded robust growth in the recent past. Despite a challenging global environment and trade slowdown, India recorded its highest export of $776.68 billion during 2023-24. This can be credited to government programmes such as Make in India, production-linked incentives, export promotion schemes and introduction of WTO-compatible schemes.

The government's push on capex in consecutive budgets is a well-appreciated move expected to stimulate growth, while powering the infrastructure sector. CII recommends an expansion of capex by 25 percent, which would be required for strengthening the economy's competitiveness.

The focus on trade is an imperative, given the fast-changing global economic landscape. Elevating India's status in global trade by strengthening domestic production and deepening our global value chain (GVC) participation are also important to become a manufacturing powerhouse.

With respect to enhancing participation in GVCs, CII has suggested a three-tier import duty structure for making our products more competitive and incentivising value-added trade. Laying out a roadmap towards zero or low duties for raw materials and inputs—higher for intermediate goods and highest for final goods—is recommended.

The remission of duties on exported products scheme is a key initiative aimed at enhancing competitiveness of our products in international markets. Allocating more funds is crucial for higher export growth.

Technology

The tech landscape has witnessed remarkable transformations over the past decade. Initiatives such as Digital India have strengthened digitalisation efforts, with India achieving significant milestones such as expanded internet access, widespread adoption of digital payments and delivery of digital services.

AP

CII's recommendations for the Budget include investment in a green transition fund. CSR's definition should be broadened to include contributions to the fund and environmental levies could be consolidated under it. Focus on R&D is also needed to make India more globally competitive

To sustain this and address critical challenges, strategic technology partnerships such as the US-India Initiative on Critical and Emerging Technologies are essential. Forging such collaborations should be initiated with more nations based on the Global Innovation Index, with higher spending on R&D and patent applications.

The government should also look to operationalise the ₹1-lakh-crore fund to support R&D in private sector. Industry should be engaged in deciding how it is spent.

To make manufacturing future-ready and aligned with evolving technological paradigm, two missions—advanced manufacturing and materials—could be announced.

With the pervasive use of digital technology in daily life, the importance of cyber insurance cannot be overstated. The government could consider launching a comprehensive policy on cyber risk insurance.

Sustainability

India is at the forefront of net zero revolution, with sustainable growth as its guiding principle. It strives to strike a balance between environmental sustainability and economic prosperity. For this, de-carbonisation plans and transition roadmaps should be prepared with industry participation. In addition, a commission on adaptation could be set up to build adaptive capacity, along with launching a national mission on water security to address rising water stress.

The government could consider setting up a green transition fund to realise the goal of net zero by 2070. The fund could be established in partnership with multilateral institutions and the private sector.

The definition of corporate social responsibility (CSR) under the Section 135 of Companies Act 2013 can be expanded to include contributions to this fund as a recognised CSR activity. The existing environmental levies, cesses and surcharges to be used for environment-related activities could be consolidated under the fund.

R&D is an essential prerequisite for achieving decarbonisation targets as it can drive energy efficiency by introducing cost-effective ways to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. Thus a focus on R&D is imperative. We need to enhance national investments in R&D from the current 0.67 percent of GDP to 4 percent by 2047.

A strong focus on these areas in the Budget will give a further momentum to India's development. Greater external engagement through trade and technology partnerships, leveraging technology for economic expansion and strategic investments in green tech would position India as a global leader of innovation and sustainable growth.

Justice Rohini Commission report on sub-categorisation of OBCs

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

A YEAR after the Justice Rohini Commission on the sub-categorisation of Other Backward Classes (OBC) submitted its report, the Central government is yet to act on it. The report would have huge political ramifications for the ruling NDA if it is implemented.

The report was submitted to President Droupadi Murmu on July 31 last year. While the government maintains that it will examine and study the implications of the report, BJP sources said that it may keep it in the backburner as the party cannot afford to upset the influential OBC communities, especially after the saffron party suffered debilitating loss in politically crucial Uttar Pradesh in the recent Lok Sabha elections.

Several post poll surveys showed that unlike in 2014 and 2019, the support from OBCs and Dalits has helped the Opposition INDIA bloc to outperform the BJP in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

Speaking to this newspaper, Minister of State for Social Justice and Empowerment, Ramdas Athawale said that the government will take up the report in its Cabinet meeting, after which it will be tabled in Parliament. "The report was submitted to the ministry last year. The government has not discussed it in the Cabinet meeting yet. I won't be able to say when it will be taken up in the Cabinet meeting," he said.

The report, not yet published, reportedly found that an abysmal percentage of OBCs cornered a significant portion of reservation benefits, and it recommended dividing OBCs into sub-groups with separate reservation percentages.

According to sources, to bridge the disparity in the distribution of quota benefits, the Rohini Commission has divided the 2,600 OBCs in the Central list into four sub-categories. The commission has identified the backward castes that receive the least benefits of reservation and those who have been availing the lion's share of benefits. In its recommendations, the commission is learnt to have adopted a balanced approach to ensure fair distribution of reservation benefits among various castes.

Before the Lok Sabha elections, it was widely believed that the BJP government will implement the Rohini panel report on 'sub-categorisation of OBCs' to counter the Bihar government's caste survey data published in October 2023. The Bihar caste data, which pegged the backward caste population at 63 per cent, sparked a renewed demand from the Opposition for nationwide caste census and review of reservation for backwards. But, after the Nitish Kumar-led JD(U) joined the NDA ahead of the elections, the report was put in cold storage, said party sources.

WHAT CAUSES THE DELAY?

- The Rohini Commission report, not yet published, is said to have found that an abysmal percentage of OBCs cornered a significant portion of reservation benefits
- It recommended dividing OBCs into sub-groups with separate reservation percentages
- It has identified the backward castes that receive the least benefits of reservation and those who have been availing the lion's share of benefits

'Nitish expects Centre to make special Budget provision for Bihar'

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

AS politics heats up over Bihar's demand for special category status by the Centre, senior JD(U) leader KC Tyagi said that the state government is expecting greater financial assistance for it in the upcoming Budget as it figures among the poorest states in the country.

The latest report of NITI Aayog's Sustainable Development Goals India Index 2023-24 has prompted several ministers in the state government to reiterate the state's long-standing demand for greater central financial assistance.

Speaking to this newspaper, Tyagi pointed out that the state is in dire need of central funds to build infrastructure and even the state BJP also endorsed the demand.

"The special status has been a long standing demand of all parties and the people of Bihar. However, NITI Aayog and 14th Finance Commission were not in favour of granting it to the state. It is not pressure tactics. It is the need of the hour. We want to have airports, medical colleges, highways and power plants. These are our expectations from our government," said Tyagi.

In NITI Aayog's report, Bihar has figured at the bottom, despite improvements on some parameters. Under the special category status, states will get preferential treatment and 90% of funds under centrally sponsored schemes is contributed by the Centre. The states are required to contribute just 10%. However, the Modi government had cited the 14th Finance Commission's report to rule out special category status for any more states.

"Why would any industry come to the state if there is no incentive or initiative? The state is reeling under unemployment, poverty and people are migrating to other cities for jobs. Bihar will never become a developed state without central packages," he said.

The JD(U)'s national executive has recently passed a resolution demanding either a special category status or a special package for Bihar. About the response from the Centre on the resolution, Tyagi said, "I am not aware of the Union government's response on this. But the BJP in Bihar has supported it. We are continuously advocating the case of the special status of the state," he said.

'Rumours around Ratna Bhandar must be put to rest'

JUSTICE Biswanath Rath, who chairs the committee on Puri Shree Jagannath temple's Ratna Bhandar inventorisation and conservation, speaks to Diana Sahu about unlocking the treasury's Bhitara Bhandar (inner chamber) after 4 decades. Excerpts:

The Ratna Bhandar in public imagination has been a mysterious place with heavily ornamented doors and guarded by mythical serpents. What exactly is the structure of the treasury?

The Ratna Bhandar is located inside the Jagamohan (assembly hall) of the temple. Contrary to the public perception, both the Bahara (outer) and Bhitara Bhandars are like normal cells. They have grill doors with iron bars through which one can easily see the interiors of both the chambers. Bahara Bhandar has an iron grill gate with a net covering on it. The Bhitara Bhandar is like any other room that has been closed for many decades. However, it is well ventilated due to the opening of the BaharaBhandar every day. Its floor was neither very damp nor very dry, although there is no denying that it is in urgent need of repair. Also, it is time that we put all the rumours of serpents guarding the jewels to rest. Public should know there is nothing of that sort.

After entering the Ratna Bhandar, what was the first thing that you saw in it?

As per the scheduled auspicious time, we entered the Bahara Bhandar at 1.28 pm. The three keys to the Bahara Bhandar from Gajapati, temple administration and Bhandar Mekap (guardian servitor) and record of valuables were available with us. After the locks were opened, we first checked the position of the ornaments in the almirahs and chests. The valuables were taken out and shifted to the temporary strongrooms designated for the purpose. In the strongrooms, each jewel and ornament was given a serial number and kept accordingly. Not even a grain of sand was left behind because there might be particles of broken gold in it. The dust was also collected, put in packets and kept in the strongrooms.

The almirahs and chests were not taken out, though. The entire process was videographed from two points to catch all movements inside.

What else was found in the Bahara Bhandar?

A lot of fabric and clothing of the deities was found. There was a heavy iron chest with 15-20 locks at different sides apart from the main lock. It had a strong internal locking system with one control key system. It was probably not opened for ages. When this chest was opened, we found clothes and chandua (applique) which appeared to be hundreds of years old. But, none of the fabric had lost its quality and colour. They were carefully taken out and packed before being stored in the strongroom.

Verbatim

During the last attempt in 2018, the Bhitara Bhandar could not be opened as officials could not locate the keys. This time, your team entered the inner chamber by cutting the locks. How was the experience?

After completing the shifting process in Bahara Bhandar which went on for three hours, we attempted to enter the Bhitara Bhandar. There were three very old locks on the gate and one was sealed. The three iron locks and two iron keys were in good condition and there was no sign of rusting. As per the government's SOP, the keys were brought in from the treasury in a sealed envelope.

On opening the envelope, we found a set of documents and two iron keys. However, as none of the keys could open the three locks, we had to get them broken open as per the SOP. We entered the Bhitara Bhandar with just a clay lamp and offered our prayers to the idols of small deities that were present in the chamber.

How did you find the Bhitara Bhandar?

Its walls are lined with steel and wooden almirahs and wooden chests. Besides, big boxes were kept on the floor. We do not know the content of the boxes yet. There were broken stones and iron beam lying on the ground. We stayed there for 30 minutes and the entire structure and storage units were videographed. All the contents will be shifted to the temporary strongroom.

India, US joint maritime exercise in Arabian Sea

Indian Navy ships INS Aditya and INS Visakhapatnam carry out Maritime Partnership Exercise with the US Naval Carrier Strike Group in the Arabian Sea | x

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

THE Indian Navy and Air Force carried out a joint multi-manoeuvre maritime exercise in the Arabian Sea with the US' nuclear-powered Theodore Roosevelt Carrier Strike Group (TRCSG). This followed the April exercise between the Indian Navy and the French Navy, which had come with its entire carrier strike group.

"Indian Navy ships INS Aditya and INS Visakhapatnam undertook a maritime partnership exercise with the US Naval Carrier Strike Group comprising the US Navy ships USS Theodore Roosevelt and USS Daniel Inouye in the Arabian Sea on July 12," the Indian Navy said in a statement on Monday.

Giving details about the exercise, the Navy added, "The ships undertook replenishment at sea, cross-deck flying operations, and air defence exercises, including maritime manoeuvres, demonstrating seamless Indian Navy-US Navy interoperability and enhancing the ability to undertake complex joint maritime operations."

BJP RS tally dips below majority, but may recoup strength via vacancies

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

AFTER falling short of a majority in the recent Lok Sabha polls, the BJP's strength has declined in the Rajya Sabha after four of its nominated members completed their six-year terms on July 14. Currently, the BJP stock has hit below 90 for the first time in several years.

The party has started working to scale up its strength in the Upper House, trying to get support from other parties.

Speaking to this newspaper on Monday, a senior party functionary said the BJP and its allies would soon work out a plan to fill 19 vacancies to consolidate its position.

At present, the party, along with its NDA allies, is confident of winning two seats each from Bihar, Maharashtra and Assam and one seat each in Haryana, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan and Tripura due to their numerical superiority.

"We are also working on the four new nominated members," said a senior party leader.

The BJP is now down to 86 members in Rajya Sabha and the NDA in total has a strength of 101, with the end of tenure of four nominated members, including Sonal Mansingh and Rakesh Sinha.

"The renomination of Sonal Mansingh can be considered as she represents a specific wing," said a BJP leader, adding that seven nominated members are still in the Rajya Sabha with neutral roles and the government may seek their support. There are also two independent members it can approach.

The ruling Congress is looking to win the lone seat in Telangana at the expense of the BRS. But its gain will be cancelled in Rajasthan where the BJP, which has a strong majority, will pick the seat vacated by KC Venugopal. The BJP is also confident of winning the sole seat in Haryana, vacated after the election of RS MP Deepender Singh Hooda to Lok Sabha.

In the forthcoming Budget session starting from July 22, the NDA government will face a tough time in getting bills passed. However, the Election Commission has not yet announced the date of elections to fill the 11 vacancies.

RAJYA SABHA AFFAIRS

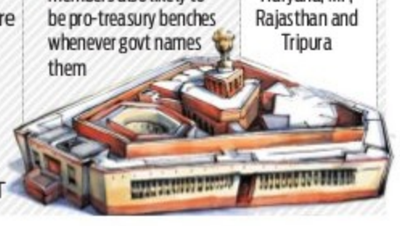
226 CURRENT RS STRENGTH

- BJP: 86
- Congress: 26
- Trinamool Congress: 13
- Vacancies: 19

Of the 19 vacancies, four are from J&K where there is no assembly currently after the erstwhile state was made a UT

- NDA is likely to recoup its losses in the coming weeks when by-polls are held to fill existing vacancies
- 4 new nominated members also likely to be pro-treasury benches whenever govt names them

NDA hopes to win two seats each in Bihar, Maharashtra and Assam; and one each in Haryana, MP, Rajasthan and Tripura



Bhima Koregaon case: SC refuses interim bail to activist Jyoti Jagtap

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @New Delhi

THERE was no immediate interim relief for social activist Jyoti Jagtap, who is accused and in jail for her alleged involvement in the Elgar Parishad-Maoist links case, as the Supreme Court on Monday refused to grant her bail.

A two-judge bench of the apex court, led by Justice MM Sundresh and Justice Aravind Kumar, while refusing to grant any immediate relief to Jagtap, also adjourned the hearing on the activist's main bail plea.

Although the court listed Jagtap's main bail plea for further hearing, it refused to grant her interim relief. "We are not inclined to give you interim bail," Justice Sundresh said.

Jagtap has approached the top court challenging the High Court's October 17, 2022 order, which dismissed her bail plea.

While rejecting her bail plea, the High Court noted that the National Investigation Agency's (NIA) case against her was "prima facie true" and that she was part of a "larger criminal conspiracy" hatched by the banned CPI (Maoist) outfit, and her involvement in the case could not be ruled out.

Further more, the High Court found that Jagtap was an active member of the Kabir Kala Manch (KKM) group, which, during its stage play at the Elgar Parishad conclave held in Pune on 31 December 2017, made "aggressive and highly provocative slogans".

Another accused, Shoma Sen, has been an undertrial prisoner since June 6, 2018 and is lodged at the Byculla jail in Mumbai.

Jagtap and many others, including 14 other activists and academics, were charged by the NIA in the 2018 Bhima Koregaon–Elgar Parishad Maoist links and criminal conspiracy case. She is charged under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act (UAPA).

SC tags NTA petition with pending pleas

A three-judge bench on Monday tagged the transfer pleas filed by the National Testing Agency with the pending matter of Vanshika Yadav and said it would hear all the pleas on July 18. Jaishankar to visit Mauritius today, to boost bilateral ties

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

EXTERNAL Affairs Minister (EAM) S Jaishankar will go on an official visit to the Republic of Mauritius from July 16-17.

"The visit marks one of the first bilateral engagements undertaken by the EAM following his re-appointment and follows the recent visit of the Prime Minister of Mauritius, Pravind Kumar Jugnauth, to India for the swearing-in ceremony of the new Cabinet and Council of Ministers," external affairs ministry said in a statement.

The EAM had earlier visited Mauritius in February 2021.

During the visit, the EAM will call on the Mauritius Prime Minister and also hold bilateral meetings with other senior ministers of the government. In addition, he will engage with other prominent Mauritian leaders. The visit will provide an opportunity for both sides to comprehensively take stock of various facets of the bilateral relationship.

Global childhood vax coverage stalled in '23, 2.7m kids unprotected, says UN

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

GLOBAL childhood vaccination coverage stalled in 2023, leaving an estimated 2.7 million more children un- or under-vaccinated compared to pre-pandemic levels in 2019, according to the United Nations on Monday.

Warning of an alarming coverage gap that has led to outbreaks of diseases like malaria, the latest World Health Organization and UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund) estimatesof nationalimmunisation coverage reported that about 14.5 million children failed to get vaccinated in 2023, against 13.9 million a year earlier.

However, the number was lower than during the Covid-19 pandemic, when about 18 million children missed out on vaccination.

The report highlighted that more children were left out of critical vaccination drives for diseases like diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough in 2023. The reason: conflicts across the globe that stalled the supply of life-saving vaccines to mostly fragile and conflict-affected regions.

According to the findings, the number of children who received three doses of the vaccine against diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis (DTP) in 2023 — a key marker for global immunisation coverage — stalled at 84%, or 108 million.

However, the number of children who did not receive a single dose of the vaccine increased from 13.9 million in 2022 to 14.5 million in 2023.

Additionally, 6.5 million children did not complete their third dose of the DTP vaccine, which is necessary to achieve disease protection in infancy and early childhood.

Conflicts across the world affected supply

The report highlighted that more children were left out of critical vaccination drives for diseases like diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough in 2023. The reason: conflicts across the globe that stalled the supply of life-saving vaccines to mostly fragile and conflict-affected regions.

"The latest trends demonstrate that many countries continue to miss far too many children," said UNICEF Executive Director Catherine Russell.

"Closing the immunisation gap requires a global effort, with governments, partners, and local leaders investing in primary healthcare and community workers to ensure every child gets vaccinated, and that overall healthcare is strengthened."

These trends, which show that global immunisation coverage has remained largely unchanged since 2022 and, more alarmingly. has still not returned to 2019 levels, reflect ongoing challenges.

Faultlines: It's state govt vs BJP organisation in UP

Yogi flags 'overconfidence' while Maurya says workers most important

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

SEEMS the BJP is unable to digest its defeat in recently-concluded Lok Sabha polls in UP as after being in a huddle for a day in the presence of party's national president JP Nadda and over 3,000 leaders and party workers at Sunday's UP Executive Committee meeting, various contradicting voices indicate towards a disquiet and lack of synergy between the organisation and the state government in Uttar Pradesh.

UP BJP had a day-long state executive committee meeting in Lucknow on Sunday during which deliberations were made identify the reasons for party's dismal show in the Lok Sabha elections following which it dwindled from 62 seats in 2019 to 33 in 2024. Besides JP Nadda, Vinod Tawde and former Amethi MP Smriti Irani, the state was represented by UP CM Yogi Adityanath, both his deputies Keshav Maurya and Brajesh Pathak along with state unit chief Bhupendra Chaudhury and general secretary Dharampal Singh.

While the state executive concluded that the party suffered major losses as the opposition's false narrative succeeded in sowing the seeds of confusion over issues like "Constitution change" and "ending reservation" among the voters, discussions were also held on the faulty ticket distribution, anti-incumbency against some of the sitting MPs and even the overconfidence of the party leaders, irresponsible statements by party leaders and the sulking cadre as the factors for poor performance.

While CM Yogi, while attributing the defeat to 'overconfidence,' which hurt the expectations, exhorted the partymen to move on leaving the disappointment behind to ensure victory in the upcoming bypoll to 10 assembly seats and 2027 state polls exuding the confidence that the party would emerge from this situation strong and emphatically to form the government in Lucknow in 2027.

Amid the murmur in political circles over Yogi being held responsible for the debacle and effeorts on to dislodge him both at the state and the central level, UP CM reminded the party that how one of the most formidable alliances — SP-BSP — was decimated in 2019. He also mentioned party's glorious performances in 2014, 2017, 2019 and 2022.

A number of state BJP leaders feel the pinch of the curtailed role of Yogi Adityanath in the selection of candidates who were repeated despite having strong anti-incumbency against them. Moreover, a majority of the two and three-term MPs were repeated in UP.

Bhujbal meets Pawar, triggers switchover buzz

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

NATIONALIST Congress Party (NCP) minister Chhagan Bhujbal on Monday met NCP (SP) chief Sharad Pawar and sought his intervention in the ongoing Maratha-OBC impasse.

The meeting between the two leaders triggered speculations of Bhujbal joining the Sharad Pawar-led NCP. However, the NCP leader clarified that he met Pawar to resolve the ongoing conflict between the two communities over reservation.

Bhujbal said that before visiting Silver Oak (Pawar's residence), he had only informed his party leader Praful Patel. "Since I had not taken a prior appointment, I had to wait for one-and-half-hours. But I decided to meet Sharad Pawar for the larger interest of the state and society. He was ill and taking rest," the NCP leader said.

"Sharad Pawar has the ability to resolve any issue that even the ministers and chief minister find tough to handle," he added. The meeting comes days after Bhujbal slammed Pawar at a public rally in Baramati over his absence in an all-party meeting convened by the state government to address concerns regarding Maratha reservation. "I requested Sharad Pawar to look into this matter because the situation is very tense," he stated.

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

SENIOR Bihar BJP minister Dilip Kumar Jaiswal on Monday put his own government on the defensive with his hard criticism of alleged corruption in his department even as opposition RJD attacked Chief Minister Nitish Kumar for remaining a "mute spectator" to the plight of common people bearing the brunt of the bribery menace.

While addressing a monthly meeting of senior officials of his department, Jaiswal, who holds the portfolio of revenue and land reforms department, admitted that no work was being done in the department without money changing hands. "Since I will discharge my duties with full honesty, I expect that officers should also discharge their duties without indulging in any corrupt practice," he added.

Revenue employees and other lower-level officials and middlemen in collusion with the land mafias have aggravated the situation as even the poor are unable to get their work done unless they cough up good money, he commented.

Senior RJD leader and party₹s chief spokesperson Shakti Singh Yadav said corruption is all-pervasive in the state, "No one can get any work done as now even a minister is showing the mirror. We have institutional corruption in the state, nobody can deny it but the chief minister acting like a 'Bhishmpitamah' is mute spectator to it," he added.

However, senior JD(U) leader and party spokesperson Arvind Nishad said that stern action had been taken against those convicted in corruption-related cases.

He pleaded that there were instances of government officers and employees indulging in the corrupt practices, but the Nitish regime had faced any corruption charge during its nearly 19-year of rule. Nishad said that the Nitish Kumar government had opened a primary school for poor children in the palatial house of a retired IAS officer Shiv Shankar Verma, suspended for corruption. Several bureaucrats had to face the heat of government action for being involved in corruption, he said.

TMC MP exposes BJP's internal meeting

Trinamool Congress MP Kalyan Banerjee stirred up the political scene by posting a video on his X handle showing a private BJP workers' meeting. In the video, BJP's current state president, Sukanta Majumder, is seen passionately addressing party workers, stressing the need to strengthen their organization to survive in Bengal. Majumder's loud declaration about the party's failure to penetrate grassroots due to weak organizational strength, and his claim that relying solely on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's image won't win them elections, has sparked significant controversy.

Where is TMC MP Abhishek Banerjee?

After the Lok Sabha polls, TMC MP Abhishek Banerjee announced a short break from politics for a medical check-up. However, nearly two months have passed with no sign of his return. TMC sources indicate that during the Martyr's Day rally on 21st July, Mamata Banerjee's nephew might make a virtual appearance on social media, as he is still engaged in medical treatment. During the Lok Sabha polls, he broke West Bengal's record for the highest victory margin, as he is currently leading by a margin of 7,03,137 votes in the Diamond Harbour constituency.

Speculation on the 21st July Martyrs' Day rally

As the 21st July Martyrs' Day rally approaches, speculation is rife within TMC about potential attendees. Some TMC leaders believe a significant number of BJP leaders who lost in the Lok Sabha elections are already in touch with TMC, with a few expected to join. There's also buzz about former Kolkata Mayor Sovan Chatterjee rejoining TMC, five years after his departure. This speculation arose after senior TMC leaders Aroop Biswas and Kunal Ghosh visited Chatterjee at his Kolkata home last week. Although Biswas and Ghosh did not confirm any political motives behind the visit, Ghosh mentioned it was not a political meeting.

Rajeev Kumar reinstated as Bengal top cop

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @Kolkata

THE West Bengal government on Monday reinstated IPS officer Rajeev Kumar as the chief of police. Kumar, who was appointed the acting Director General of Police in December last year, was removed from the post before the Lok Sabha polls by the Election Commission (EC). 1989 batch IPS officer Sanjay Mukherjee was appointed DGP by the EC.

Following the conclusion of both LS elections and by-polls for four Assembly constituencies and the lifting of the model code of conduct, Rajeev Kumar has been reinstated at the top police post. Mukherjee goes back to his earlier post of Director General, Fire Services.

Rajeev Kumar's name has figured in much controversy with the CBI accusing him of tampering with the electronic evidence in the multi-crore Saradha chit fund case. State opposition leaders have accused him of phone tapping.

In February 2019, CBI sleuths attempted a raid at Kumar's official residence when he was the Commissioner of Kolkata Police, following which CM sat on a sit-in demonstration.

Out on bail, J'khand CM springs surprise, meets Modi on 'courtesy call'

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

JHARKHAND Chief Minister Hemant Soren, who has been making scathing attack on BJP after his release from jail, surprised everyone on Monday by meeting Prime Minister Narendra Modi, which he termed a courtesy call. Notably, this was his first meeting with PM Modi after being released from jail in land scam case.

Wife Kalpana Soren was also present during the meeting. Though, it is being called a courtesy call, but the meeting has triggered speculations among the political corridors of Jharkhand.

JMM sources also said that it was a courtesy call as it was his first visit to Delhi after taking oath as Chief Minister of Jharkhand. Posting a picture on social media platform X of his meeting with the Prime Minister, Soren also said the meeting was a "courtesy call". "Had a courtesy meeting with Honourable Prime Minister Narendra Modi ji," posted Soren on X.

Soren stepped down from the chair on January 31 this year, shortly before his arrest in a money laundering case linked to the alleged land scam. Following his arrest, his close aide Champai Soren took over.

Later, after spending around five months in jail, Hemant Soren was released on bail on July 4 following the High Court order and became Chief Minister once again. The court said in its order that it had "reasons to believe that Hemant Soren was not guilty".

Just before taking oath, Soren released a video message and accused BJP of leveling false allegations against him.

Akal Takht says put up photos of separatists inside Golden Temple

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

THE Akal Takht Jathedar Giani Raghbir Singh has asked the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC) to put up portraits of Khalistani separatists Hardeep Singh Nijjar, Paramjit Singh Panjwar and Gajinder Singh at the Central Sikh Museum in the Golden Temple complex.

They were all wanted by the Indian authorities.

Last week the SGPC and the hardliner group Dal Khalsa organised an event near the Golden Temple to pay tributes to Gajinder Singh, founder of Dal Khalsa and a wanted terrorist in the hijacking of an Indian Airlines (IA) flight to Lahore in 1981 demanding the release of Jarnail Singh Bhindrawale. Some time back he died in a heart attack at a hospital in Pakistan.

Jathedar Giani Raghbir Singh said the SGPC should display the portraits of the trio in view of their "sacrifices."

Khalistan separatist Hardeep Singh Nijjar was killed outside a gurdwara in British Columbia, Canada, on June 18 last year. This caused strains in India's ties with Canada.

Paramjit Singh Panjwar, chief of Khalistan Commando Force and one of India's wanted militants, was shot dead in Lahore on May 6 last year.

In a related development, Jathedar Giani Raghbir Singh has summoned Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) chief Sukhbir Singh Badal to appear before the Takht within 15 days and submit his reply to allegations by the party's rebel group that he has not represented the sentiments of the Panth.

The Takht decision came on Monday after a meeting of the high priests in Amritsar. A Takht statement did not mention the name of the SAD chief nor did it name the leaders who made allegations against him.

The Takht acknowledged a complaint from some senior SAD leaders. It also sought a clarification from the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbhandak Committee (SGPC) for the allegation over spending Rs 90 lakh on ads alone.

Rebel SAD leaders mainly consist of Prem Singh Chandumajra, Surjit Singh Rakhra, Jagir Kaur, Gurpartap Singh Wadala, Parminder Singh Dhindsa, Karnail Singh Panjauli and Manjit Singh. They submitted a written apology to Giani Raghbir Singh on July 1 in a letter apologising for being a part of the SAD government from 2007 to 2017. It was time when the top leadership committed several "mistakes" leading to SAD's defeat in elections from 2017. They mentioned the controversial exoneration of Dera Sacha Sauda chief Gurmeet Ram Rahim Singh, failure to punish the perpetrators of sacrilege instances at Behbal Kalan and Kotkapura and the appointment of controversial police officer Sumedh Singh Saini. The letter also claimed that Sukhbir Badal allegedly used his influence to pardon the Dera Sacha Sauda chief in the blasphemy case.

Amid Maoist threats, tribal Cong MLA in C'garh seeks 'Y' security

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

CONGRESS legislator Janak Lal Dhruv, a tribal leader, representing Bindranavagarh assembly constituency in Gariyaband district, about 110 km from Raipur, citing Maoist terror has sought upgradation of his security cover from X to Y+ category.

Dhruv said that like other MLAs in the disturbed areas of Bastar range have been given Y+ security, he too should be provided the same since the present protection of 2-3 police personnel is not enough to safeguard him during any attack by the Maoists.

"I have sleepless nights owing to Maoist terror. Staying in a village I had to cover my assembly segment to meet people but can't go. Bidnranavagarh was the only seat where Maoists attacked the polling party in the 2023 Assembly elections and a personnel of Indo Tibetan Border Police was killed just 5 km from my residential place. The area often witnessed movements of Maoists. Considering all these, I had raised the issue in the previous budget session of the House and later written to the state to provide me Y+ category but so far my plea remains unheeded", he said. Though he has not received any threat from the Maoists.

The Congress leader said the norms on security cover applicable for the MLAs living in sensitive areas having the presence of left-wing extremists should be uniformly implemented for all irrespective of which political party he or she belongs to.

"When the legislators from the ruling party (BJP) in Bastar region can get Y+ security, why should then I be deprived of it. This suggests step-motherly treatment when my repeated appeal for the past 7 months has not been considered by the state government. I have now written to union home minister Amit Shah and will again appeal to the government", Dhruv added.

Officials in the home department told this newspaper that any specific category on security is provided or enhanced based on the actual threat and not on somebody's demand.

There is a Protection Review Group committee that seeks key information from the ground, intelligence wing of the state as well as the Centre before arriving at any decision to provide security based on different categories, it was told.

Y+ category security cover includes eight to 11 personnel, including a couple of commandos and also two personal security officers.

'Chandipura' virus claims 6 kids in Gujarat

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

A virus has apparently claimed six lives in the Aravalli and Sabarkantha districts of Gujarat. Reports indicate that cases of the Chandipura virus (CHPV) have been identified in these districts, where six children have lost their lives to the suspected infection.

Addressing the media in Gandhinagar, Health Minister Rishikesh Patel stated, "Six suspected Chandipura virus deaths have been reported in the state. Only after the results of the samples will it be confirmed whether these were cases of Chandipura disease or not." The Health Minister also said, "There is no need to panic about Chandipura viral encephalitis disease, but it is necessary to be careful."

He further provided an update on the situation, saying, "So far, 12 suspected cases of Chandipura have been observed in the state. Six patients are under treatment.

Only 8 have applied for citizenship under CAA in Assam, says Himanta

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

FOUR months elapsed since the Centre notified the rules for the implementation of contentious Citizenship (Amendment) Act (CAA) but only eight persons applied for citizenship in Assam under this amended law. Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma told the media on Monday that of the eight, only two appeared for the "interview".

He quipped that if around one lakh people apply, it would be a face-saver for the government, which backed CAA, and those who opposed it. He recalled that five persons had lost their lives during the anti-CAA protests in the state.

In March, the Centre had launched a portal for people to apply for citizenship under CAA. People from six non-Muslim communities from Bangladesh, Pakistan and Afghanistan, who entered India till December 31, 2014, can apply for citizenship under CAA.

"People who came to India before 2015 have the first right to apply for citizenship under CAA. If they do not apply, we will lodge a case against them while proceedings will continue against them in the foreigners' tribunals (FTs)," Sarma said. "This is a statutory instruction that those who came before 2015 will apply. We will deport those who came after 2015," he added.

The various FTs deal with the cases of suspected illegal immigrants. According to the last official count, they declared 1,59,353 people as foreigners till 2023. Another 96,149 cases are pending. "When we contacted many Hindu Bengali families and asked them to apply for citizenship, they said they are convinced about their Indian citizenship, stating that they entered the country prior to 1971 and they do not want to apply for citizenship under CAA. They said they will prove their citizenship in a court of law. So, that is the general sentiment among people in Assam," Sarma said.

He added that the BJP conducted even outreach programmes in the Bengali-majority Barak valley to ask people to apply for citizenship but nobody applied. According to the historic Assam Accord signed in 1985, the illegal immigrants, who entered Assam after March 25, 1971, are to be deported.

No excitement among immigrants

- The CAA was passed by parliament to provide Indian citizenship to immigrants who entered India on or before Dec 31, 2014
- However, there is hardly any excitement among the immigrants. It is assumed that the moment an immigrant applies for citizenship via the CAA portal route, he or she will be exposed as a "Bangladeshi" and harassed by the society
- The process entails submission of at least one document to prove the applicant is from Bangladesh, Pakistan or Afghanistan. The general perception is the immigrants, perhaps, do not possess those documents now

Vance's wife is Indian-American lawyer Usha Chilukuri, who has roots in Andhra Pradesh

MILWAUKEE

Former President Donald Trump on Monday announced his decision to pick Ohio Senator J D Vance as his running mate. The made the announcement on his social media platform Truth Social.

"After lengthy deliberation and thought, and considering the tremendous talents of many others, I have decided that the person best suited to assume the position of Vice President of the United States is Senator J D Vance of the Great State of Ohio," he said.

Vance is married to an Indian-American lawyer Usha Chilukuri, who has her roots in Andhra Pradesh. They first met at Yale Law School in the 2010s and married a year after graduation. They have three children, two boys and a girl.

Usha Chilukuri is a litigator in the San Francisco and Washington, D.C., offices of Munger, Tolles & Olson. Her practice focuses on complex civil litigation and appeals in a wide variety of sectors, including higher education, local government, entertainment, and technology, including semiconductors, according to her bio on Munger, Tolles & Olson.

At the Yale Law School, she was executive development editor of the Yale Law Journal and managing editor of the Yale Journal of Law & Technology.

Earlier in the day, Trump pencilled out Florida Senator Marco Rubio and North Dakota Governor Doug Burgum from the race. Both of them were told they won't be chosen as his running mate.

Tens of thousands of supporters are in Milwaukee for the Republican Party's convention, an historic, high-voltage gathering turbocharged by the attempted assassination of the former president.

With the country still digesting the image of a bloodied Trump – his fist raised, an American flag behind him, shouting "Fight!" as the Secret Service rushed him to safety –the former president is set to be anointed the party's champion to again face Joe Biden at the ballot box.

Some 50,000 Republicans have descended on the shores of Lake Michigan for the four-day salute to all things Trump, culminating in his acceptance speech on Thursday.

Meanwhile, Congressional committees moved quickly to investigate the attempted assassination of Trump. The House Committee on Oversight and Investigation has already scheduled a hearing for July 22 with the director of the U.S. Secret Service, Kimberly Cheatle, set to testify.

James Comer, the committee's Republican chairman, said the Secret Service has a no-fail mission, "yet it failed on Saturday." He said lawmakers are grateful to the agents who acted quickly to protect Trump.

I'm supposed to be dead, Trump says

Washington: Former US president Donald Trump on Sunday told the New York Post he was "supposed to be dead" after surviving an assassination attempt which he described as a "very surreal experience." "I'm not supposed to be here, I'm supposed to be dead," Trump told the Post in an interview aboard his plane en route to Milwaukee for the Republican National Convention where he is set to be confirmed as the party's presidential candidate. It was a "very surreal experience" he recounted with a white bandage covering his right ear.

Biden says time to tone down political rhetoric

Washington: US President Joe Biden on Sunday urged citizens to unite in the hour of crisis when a failed assassination bid was made on his predecessor Donald Trump and said it was time to 'cool down' political rhetoric in the country. In a prime-time national address from the Oval Office, he said "I want to speak to you tonight about the need for us to lower the temperature in our politics and to remember, while we may disagree, we are not enemies we are neighbours, friends, coworkers, citizens, and most importantly, we are fellow Americans."

Crook acted alone, it's local terror, says FBI

MILWAUKEE

THE gunman who shot at former president Donald Trump during an election rally in Pennsylvania on Saturday appears to have acted alone, according to the FBI, which is investigating it as a potential 'domestic terrorism' act.

The gunman has been identified as Thomas Matthew Crooks (20). "At this point in the investigation, it appears that he was a lone actor, but we still have more investigation to go," said Robert Wells, the executive assistant director of the FBI's National Security Branch.

The FBI, he said, is investigating this as an assassination attempt, and also as a 'potential domestic terrorism act.' The counterterrorism division and criminal divisions are working jointly together to determine the motive, he added.

The FBI is leading the investigation into the assassination attempt of Trump at an election rally in Pennsylvania.

"The shooter may be deceased, but the investigation is very much ongoing. And, because of that, we are limited in what we say at this point," FBI Director Christopher Wray said. The shooter, as per FBI, used an AR-style rifle chambered in 5.56mm, a common calibre for such weapons. PTI

Nepal's newly appointed prime minister Khadga Prasad Sharma Oli (R) takes oath of office, administered by President Ram Chandra Poudel (L), as his predecessor Maoist leader Pushpa Kamal Dahal looks on at the presidential house in Kathmandu on Monday | AFP

Oli sworn in as Nepal's premier for the 4th time

KATHMANDU

NEPAL's Khadga K P Sharma Oli on Monday was sworn in as Nepal's 45th Prime Minister, the fourth time for him, to lead a new coalition government that faces the daunting challenge of providing political stability in the nation.

The leader of Nepal's largest communist party was appointed as prime minister on Sunday by President Ram Chandra Paudel to lead the coalition government with the Nepali Congress (NC), the largest party in Parliament, apart from other smaller parties.

Oli, 72, succeeds Pushpa Kamal Dahal 'Prachanda,' who lost the vote of confidence in the House of Representatives on Friday, leading to the formation of the new government. Chairman of the Communist Party of Nepal-Unified Marxist Leninist (CPN-UML), Oli was sworn in by President Paudel at Shital Niwas, the main building of Rashtrapati Bhawan at a ceremony that was delayed by more than half an hour.

According to the news portal MyRepublica, the swearing-in ceremony was delayed due to the failure of the Nepali Congress to finalise the names of its ministers to join the government amid disputes within the party. The President also administered oaths to the two Deputy PMs Prakash Man Singh and Bishnu Paudel and 19 other ministers. Singh would also look after the Urban Development Ministry while Vishnu Prakash Paudel would look after the Finance Ministry.

Arzoo Rana Deuba, wife of Nepali Congress President Sher Bahadur Deuba is the foreign minister in the cabinet while Nepali Congress Chief Whip Ramesh Lekhak is appointed home minister. There are 10 cabinet ministers from the Nepali Congress; eight, excluding the Prime Minister, from the CPN-UML, two from the Janata Samajwadi Party and one from the Loktantrik Samajwadi Party in the government. Local media pointed out that the new cabinet is devoid of Dalit and has only two women members.

Responding to Modi's congratulatory message on his appointment as prime minister for the fourth time, Oli thanked him for his warm wishes. Earlier Modi said, "Look forward to working closely to further strengthen the deep bonds of friendship between our two countries and to further expand our mutually beneficial cooperation for the progress and prosperity of our peoples." PTI

Trump docus case dismissed by judge

WASHINGTON

THE federal judge presiding over the classified documents case against former President Donald Trump in Florida dismissed the prosecution on Monday, siding with defence lawyers who said the special counsel who filed the charges was illegally appointed by the Justice Department.

The decision by US District Judge Aileen Cannon, which can be appealed and may later be overturned by a higher court, brings at least for now a stunning and abrupt conclusion to a criminal case that at the time it was filed was widely regarded as the most perilous of all the legal threats the Republican former president confronted. Though the case had long been stalled, and the prospect of a trial before the November election already was an unrealistic scenario, the judge's order is a mammoth legal victory for Trump as he recovers from a weekend assassination attempt and prepares to accept the Republican nomination in Milwaukee this week.

It's the latest stroke of good fortune in the four criminal cases Trump has faced.

In a statement on his social media platform, Trump said that the dismissal 'should be just the first step' and that the three other cases, which he called 'Witch Hunts,' should also be dismissed.

The classified documents case had been seen as the most legally clear-cut of the four given the breadth of evidence that prosecutors say they had accumulated. AP

Third Plenum of CPC amid GDP dip tests Xi

BEIJING

CHINA's GDP dipped to 4.7% in the second quarter, the government said on Monday, as the ruling Communist Party began a key meeting stated to be a defining moment for President Xi Jinping's leadership to revive the world's second-largest economy. The four-day meeting called the 'Third Plenum' is being attended by 376 full and alternate members of the Communist Party of China (CPC) Central Committee to primarily examine issues related to comprehensively deepening reforms and advancing China's modernisation to work out a course correction for the economy plagued by deepening demographic crisis, sluggish growth and mounting local government debts.

Kicking off the meeting Xi 71, who is also general secretary of the party, delivered a work report and expounded on a draft decision of the CPC Central Committee on further comprehensively deepening reform and advancing Chinese modernisation, the official media reported. The meeting, however, began here on a disappointing note for the party leadership as the National Bureau of Statistics (NBS) announced the GDP for the second quarter expanded by 4.7% well below the 5.3% annual pace of growth in the first quarter of the year.

The silver lining for the CPC, which is searching for a new set of reforms to shake off the post-COVID lockdown blues, the economy posted a 5% growth in the first half. The Third Plenum is regarded as important to set the reform agenda for the next decade.

Israel rains shells on Gaza from land, air, sea after Hamas pulls out of talks

GAZA STRIP

ISRAEL hammered the Gaza Strip from the air, sea and land on Monday as the war in the Palestinian territory showed no sign of abating, after Hamas said it was pulling out of truce talks. Shells rained down on the neighbourhoods of Tal Al-Hawa, Sheikh Ajlin and Al-Sabra in Gaza City, while eyewitnesses said the Israeli army had shelled the Al-Mughraqa area and the northern outskirts of the Nuseirat refugee camp in central Gaza.

Paramedics from the Palestinian Red Crescent said they had retrieved the bodies of five people, including three children, after Israeli air strikes in the Al-Maghazi camp, also in the central Gaza Strip.

Meanwhile, eyewitnesses reported Israeli gunship fire east of Khan Younis, in southern Gaza, and shelling and Apache helicopter attacks in western areas of the southernmost city of Rafah.

The Israeli military said in a statement that it was continuing its activity throughout the coastal territory, and said it had conducted raids in Rafah and central Gaza that killed "a number of" militants, as well as air strikes throughout the strip over the past day.

It also said its naval forces had been firing at targets in Gaza. The relentless bombardments came as prospects dwindled for a truce and hostage release deal being secured any time soon.

Hamas, the Iran-backed Islamist group, said on Sunday it was withdrawing from ceasefire talks.

The decision followed an Israeli strike targeting the head of Hamas' military wing, Mohammed Deif, which the health ministry in Hamas-run Gaza said killed 92 people.

Deif's fate remains unknown. A senior Hamas official said that Deif was "well and directly overseeing" operations.

Speaking after the strike on Al-Mawasi, a second senior official from the militant group cited Israeli "massacres" and its attitude to negotiations as a reason for suspending negotiations. But according to the official, Haniyeh told international mediators Hamas was "ready to resume negotiations" when Israel's government "demonstrates seriousness in reaching a ceasefire agreement and a prisoner exchange deal" Hamas on Monday lashed out at the US, accusing it of supporting "genocide" by supplying Israel with weapons. AFP

Pakistan to move court to ban Imran Khan's party

ISLAMABAD

UPPING the ante against Imran Khan, the Pakistan government on Monday said it has decided to ban his party on charges of illegally receiving foreign funds, involvement in riots and its alleged involvement in "anti-state" activities that will attract treason charges against the jailed former PM.

Announcing the unexpected move, Minister for Information and Broadcasting, Attaullah Tarar, highlighted the activities of Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) and its leadership to weaken the sovereignty of the country and harm its integrity at the international level. "PTI and Pakistan cannot co-exist," Tarar told a press conference here, saying that the matter would go to the Cabinet and the Supreme Court.

He said the government has decided to ban the PTI, file a review petition in reserved seat case, and file cases against the PTI founder, former president Arif Alvi and ex-National Assembly deputy speaker Qasim Suri for subverting the Constitution.

He said strict legal action would be taken against a handful of overseas Pakistanis for anti-state activities.

The minister alleged that PTI has long been involved in anti-state activities, saying the constitution empowers the federal government to seek a ban on such a party by sending the case to the Supreme Court.

He said that the government would be justified in banning PTI over its alleged involvement in matters ranging from obtaining prohibited funding to sabotaging the IMF deal and from resettling the Taliban in Pakistan to the May 9 riots.

Tarar also announced that the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) led government and its coalition partners have decided to file a review appeal against the decision of the Supreme Court granting reserved seats to the PTI in the National Assembly. PTI

Budget '25: Green projects may receive incentives

Interest earned by subscribers of green bonds may get tax exemption

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE forthcoming budget may give some tax incentives to entities engaged in environment-friendly green projects, sources told TNIE. As per a source, the Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) has agreed to the industry demand for such incentives given critical importance of carbon-neutral projects.

The government may also agree to industry suggestions that interest income earned by subscribers of green bonds be exempted or be subjected to a concessional rate of tax. India has set a target of reducing carbon intensity below 45% and reaching a non-fossil fuel energy capacity of 500 GW by 2030. It has set the target of fulfilling at least half of its energy requirements via renewable energy by 2030 and reducing carbon dioxide emissions by 1 billion tonne by 2030. By 2070, India wants to achieve net-zero emission target.

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman will present the Union Budget on July 23. The budget is likely to announce several measures to help India achieve its medium and long-term carbon emission goals.

In the interim Budget speech in February, Sitharaman had announced several measures for promoting green energy. A viability gap funding was announced for harnessing offshore wind energy potential for initial capacity of one giga-watt. She had announced setting up coal gasification and liquefaction capacity of 100 MT by 2030. Apart from that, the budget had announced phased mandatory blending of compressed biogas (CBG) in compressed natural gas (CNG) for transport and piped natural gas (PNG) for domestic purposes.

RUN-UP TO BUDGET

The government has planned to raise ₹12,000 crore via sovereign green bonds in the first half of the current financial year. However, it had to cancel the auction of the bonds as the market was asking for higher yields than the government or the RBI was ready to offer. Tax incentives on green bonds can help increase demand for green bonds, which are used for financing low carbon-emitting projects. The industry expects the government to announce some initiatives that would further the cause of climate finance in the country.

Vivek Iyer, partner, Grant Thornton Bharat, says: "While initiatives around green deposit and green lending have been underway, it would be important for the government to focus on transition finance, which is the key requirement to move away from traditional carbon-intensive energy frameworks to low carbon footprint frameworks," he says.

Classifying fraud a/c: RBI issues circular

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

FOLLOWING the March 2023 Supreme Court judgement on classifying an account/borrower as fraud, the Reserve Bank has incorporated certain changes to ensure "natural justice to the borrower" and has issued a new master circular detailing essential measures to that all lenders--commercial banks, non-banks, housing financiers and all cooperative banks –have to adhere to before classifying fraud accounts.

In an order on March 27, 2023, the court upheld the petition that sought natural justice and directed the banks to give time and offer detailed explanation the borrower and also asked the RBI to issue new directions towards the same.

In a clarifcatory order on May 12, 2023 (after SBI sought some changes on the March order), the court led by chief justice D Y Chandrachud had said "the March 27 order didn't ask a lender to accord personal hearing to the defaulter borrower. Rather we had said they should be given adequate notice and an opportunity to make a representation." The central bank said the latest master circular has been prepared after a comprehensive review of earlier master directions, which had laid down essential measures that a lender's board must adhere to, before classifying persons/entities as fraud.

The RBI said the new circulars on fraud risk management are aimed at strengthening the internal audit and controls of boards, and seeks the use of data analytics in fraud detection. The new circulars now mandate a board-approved policy to lay down roles and responsibilities of the board and senior management, when it comes to fraud risk management.

"The directions now expressly require that all the regulated entities shall ensure compliance with the principles of natural justice in a time-bound manner before classifying persons/entities as fraud, duly taking into account the March 2023 Supreme Court judgment in the matter of State Bank of India & others vs Rajesh Agarwal & others", the circular said.

All regulated entities will now have to issue a detailed show cause notice to the persons, entities and its promoters/whole-time and executive directors against whom allegation of fraud is being examined, as per the revised rules.

Apple records sales of $8 bn in India

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

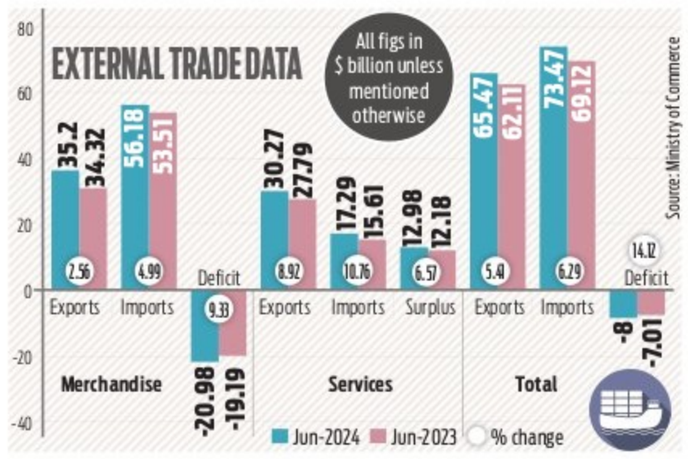
APPLE has achieved a record $8 billion in sales in India, underscoring the country's status as a rapidly expanding market.

The iPhone maker has significantly ramped up its production efforts in India over the past two years. As per a recent report, Apple's revenue in India surged by approximately 33% in the 12 months ending March, rising from $6 billion the previous year. The report also highlighted that Apple's premium iPhones were responsible for more than half of these sales, reflecting the company's growing influence in the world's most populous nation, where consumer purchasing power is steadily increasing as the economy grows.

Apple is diversifying its manufacturing base to India from China due to geopolitical tensions. Although the company does not break out India revenue in its earnings statements, it is required to report annual sales in the country to local authorities. Interestingly, while India is one of the fastest-growing markets for Apple, it accounts for only about 2% of its latest fiscal-year sales of $383 billion.

India's merchandise exports growth falls to 2.6% in June from 13.5% YoY

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi



IN view of global slowdown, the country's merchandise exports increased only by 2.6% year-on-year in June, a significant decrease from the 13.5% growth witnessed in May, according to the commerce ministry data released on Monday.

The total value of exports in June hit a seven-month low at $35.2 billion. Meanwhile, merchandise imports in June increased by 4.9% to reach $56.18 billion. This growth was driven by a rise in imports of goods like petroleum products, electronic items, and metals, among others.

In June, the trade deficit in India decreased to $20.98 billion from a seven-month high of $22 billion in May.

However, it widened compared to $19.2 billion in June of the previous year. Commerce Secretary Sunil Barthwal during the media briefing mentioned that if global inflation decreases and growth continues, trade will also stay strong. However, Barthwal also stressed upon the need for being cautious amid current geopolitical tensions or any new conflicts that may arise.

Barthwal expressed optimism, stating that India is on track to surpass $800 billion in total exports (goods and services) for the current fiscal year. He highlighted that quarterly figures are positive, and services exports are showing steady growth.

"If you look at our strategy, we are focusing on 20 countries of significance. We are also looking at six major sectors of the economy so that we can benefit from growth factors in these sectors and these economies," Barthwal said during media briefing.

The cumulative value of exports during the April-June 2024 period stood at $109.96 billion as compared to $103.89 billion during April-June 2023, registering a positive growth of 5.84%. It is to be noted that exports excluding petroleum and gems and jewellery, increased by 8.5% to $27.43 billion.

The growth was primarily led by engineering goods (10.27%), electronic goods (16.91%), drugs and pharmaceuticals (9.93%), coffee exports (70%) and organic and inorganic chemicals (3.32%).

India to boost economic ties with Russia through trade in local currency

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

INDIA is seeking to enhance its trade relations with Russia by advocating for rupee-rouble trade and the removal of non-tariff barriers, according to a senior government official.

This announcement follows Prime Minister Narendra Modi's recent trip to Russia, during which discussions primarily centered on improving the trade partnership. Both nations have set a bilateral trade goal of $100 billion by 2030.

During a press conference, Commerce Secretary Sunil Barthwal mentioned that the Indian government has requested Russia to review certain non-tariff barriers affecting Indian marine food product exports.

Additionally, India is promoting rupee-rouble trade, which has not gained traction yet. Barthwal also mentioned plans to send a trade delegation, however he did not provide further information.

While addressing the media, Barthwal highlighted the mutual benefits that could result from enhancing trade ties between India and Russia. He highlighted the exploration of potential trade opportunities in sectors such as electronics, engineering goods, and other commodities for export.

"When we are looking at Russia, we are looking at how both the countries can benefit from better trade relationships. We are looking at different sets of commodities like electronics, engineering goods and other items where there can be exports," Barthwal said.

The landscape of India-Russia trade has been imbalanced since the beginning of the Ukraine conflict in 2022. While Russia has emerged as India's leading oil provider, Indian exports to Russia have faced challenges, leading to a substantial $57 billion trade deficit in the bilateral trade valued at $66 billion in the fiscal year 2024. This disparity underscores the need for strategic measures to address and rectify the trade imbalance between the two countries.

FAME SCHEME

EV industry appeals for subsidies to boost sales

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

WITH electric vehicle (EV) sales losing momentum following a sharp reduction in subsidies provided by the government, the auto sector is pinning hope on the third phase of the FAME (Faster Adoption and Manufacturing of Electric and Hybrid Vehicles) scheme to find a mention in Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman's upcoming FY24-25 union budget speech.

The sector is also anticipating soaps from the government to boost the battery and charging infrastructure, rationalise tax structure and support the R&D capabilities.

"Policy measures and initiatives promoted by the Government of India and state governments were instrumental in kick-starting the vehicle electrification story in the country," said Rohan Kanwar Gupta, Vice President & Sector Head - Corporate Ratings, ICRA Limited. The rating agency expects that there could be a substantial allocation towards subsidy incentives in the Budget, both for manufacturers and consumers.

"This could include subsidies for vehicle purchases (including e-buses) as well as incentives for setting up EV manufacturing plants... Other key expectations include a reduction of goods and service tax (GST) on EVs (which is currently at 5%), correction of inverted duty structure (wherein GST on batteries is significantly higher than that of vehicles) and incentives for EV-related research and development (R&D)," added Gupta.

Pritesh Talwar: President – of EV Business, Lectrix EV, said that the upcoming budget must work on creating an ecosystem for electric mobility that not only favours manufacturing but also the development of the charging infrastructure. "We hope the budget will take into account incentives for consumers, manufacturing support, policies for R&D, increased avenues for MSME involvement, and increased focus on building the charging infrastructure and innovation in EVs. We hope the budget will extend and expand incentives with schemes like FAME, enhanced subsidies on EV purchases, tax benefits for manufacturers etc," said Talwar.

Samrath Singh Kochar, founder and CEO, of Trontek, a leading manufacturer of lithium-ion and lead-acid batteries for electric vehicles, said by increasing subsidies for EV purchases, reducing GST on EV components, and expanding charging infrastructure, the government can significantly enhance the affordability and accessibility of electric mobility. Additionally, incentivizing local battery manufacturing and research can spur innovation and reduce dependence on imports, fostering a robust domestic EV ecosystem, he added.

Nadal wins doubles match on clay alongside Ruud

Rafael Nadal returned to the clay courts in the Nordea Open for the first time in 19 years by teaming up with Casper Ruud to win a first-round doubles match at the Nordea Open on Monday. Nadal and Ruud won against second-seeded Guido Andreozzi and Miguel Reyes-Varela 6-1, 6-4 in front of a packed crowd.

After taking charge, coach Luis de la Fuente wanted to build a new house, one predicated on playing fast, fun football with little emphasis on possession. The strategy paid off

Spain - modern home of football

Spain players celebrate their Euro 2024 title win in Berlin, Germany on Sunday. They beat England 2-1 in final | AP

FOOTBALL did go home on Sunday night. At least to its modern home. Spain.

Real Madrid are the current holders of the Champions League. Between 2009 and 2019, the Ballon d'Or winners came exclusively from La Liga. Pep Guardiola's influence on the world of football is so vast clubs lower down the pyramid have tried to put in place a more modern ideology. Goalkeepers everywhere are encouraged to pass it out from the back. Kylian Mbappe, widely recognised as one of the world's best players in the game today, is moving to Spain. There is Guardiola's blueprint wherever you look — Mikel Arteta is at Arsenal, Enzo Maresa at Chelsea, Eric ten Haag at Manchester United, Vincent Kompany at Bayern Munich and Xavi Hernandez, who called Barcelona home till May. They have all played or learned the grammar of coaching under him. Out of the 52 players who either featured or were on the bench for the final, the guardian had made the point that 27 were coached by a Spanish manager at club level immediately before the start of the European Championship. In the 16 years since the Euros in 2008, the country has lost a grand total of one match in normal time in the knockout stages of a big event (against Italy in 2016). Since 2002, there have been 27 instances of a men's Spanish team in a big (World Cup, Euros, Champions League and Europa League) final. Spanish sides have won on all occasions.

On the basis of this performance against England, the Iberians will continue to have other sides chasing their shadows. Now, they are the sole leaders in terms of Euros with four.

And, so, when the individual gongs were handed out, it wasn't a surprise to see them walking away with all the major honours. Rodrigo Hernandez? Player of the tournament. Lamine Yamal? Young player of the tournament. Dani Olmo? Golden boot. Nico Williams? Player of the final. And there's no better place to start than Williams, whose first-time finish to begin the second half turned an attritional first 45 minutes into a very watchable second. Born to Ghanaian parents who fled their country before seeking political asylum in Melilla, Spain's North African Enclave (they were encouraged by a lawyer to say they were fleeing Liberia, a country at war), the 22-year-old has long been identified as a star in the making since making his debut for Athletic Bilbao in 2021.

Just before coming to the Euros, he had a poignant moment for his boyhood club. After playing a big role in the final of the Copa del Rey (he assisted Bilbao's only goal), he watched on from the bench as they won their first title in 40 years.

The last time his club had won a Cup, Maria and Felix, his parents, were still in Ghana and it was the 1980s. Staying in the 1980s, Spain were considered as one of the great underachievers. Their only major trophy had come at the Euros in 1964.

Not anymore. After the disappointment of the 2006 World Cup, Spain tore up their DNA with a new blueprint. Players high on technique and ball retention were sought and fast-tracked into the first team. Forwards were eschewed as a false-nine (a withdrawn player) came in. Out-and-out wingers went out of fashion as wide playmakers replaced them. A Golden Generation of players — led by Xavi, Andres Iniesta, Sergio Ramos and David Silva — won two Euros sandwiched by a World Cup.

By the time 2014 came around, this style needed reinvention. It has taken time but the magic is back. For instance, at the 2018 World Cup in Russia, they made over a 1000 passes against the host nation (Russia made 300 in 120 minutes, for comparison) in the pre-quarterfinals. Spain ended up losing on penalties. Dogma is well and good but the process had become stale. They suffered from similar issues at the last World Cup. So, when the keys to the senior side were given to Luis de la Fuente, he was clear. He wanted to build a new house, one predicated on playing fast, fun football. He was okay not having possession as long as they were being more vertical.

And he was true to his word as a millennial version was repurposed for the TikTok generation. For the first time in a competitive match in 16 years, Spain conceded more possession to an opponent (against Croatia in their first game in Berlin a month ago). It didn't matter because that warning shot — a resounding 3-0 win — echoed throughout the country. They were fast, their wingers were direct and it was cool. A dogma had quietly been shelved. It has happened a few times since but this Spain can hurt in other ways.

They showed it in less than 80 seconds into the second-half. In the first half, they were more focused on maintaining structure, passes went sideways rather than forwards and some of that dazzling one-touch play was missing. After a half-time debrief, they corrected that with one of the goals of the tournament.

After Aymeric Laporte took hold of possession, he dribbled forward before laying it off to Fabian Ruiz who had peeled towards the right. Ruiz looked up and spotted Dani Carvajal. The right-back's instinctive first-time clip eliminated three English players from the move and Yamal suddenly had green grass infront of him. Yamal cut in and dribbled through the heart of the defense before switching the play to an onrushing Williams on the left. His first-time finish bulged the net. Spain had lift-off. This is exactly the play previous La Roja teams were missing. This one, though, has it in spades. England did equalise — thanks to another piece of individual skill — but Spain could and should have been out of sight by then. Yamal was denied by Jordan Pickford while Williams almost doubled their advantage.

Even the winner had the hallmarks of the modern, more direct Spain. After Pedri was ruled out with injury, Dani Olmo, the replacement, has had an outsized influence on the tournament. While the Barcelona man is more of an 8, Olmo is a 10. The latter is a runner, who likes to dribble, release players and go for 1-2s. Pedri is more of a ball-hogger, who likes to take more touches before playing that killer pass. In the 86th minute, Olmo spotted the pass to Mikel Oyarzabal, the replacement for Alvara Morata. Oyarzabal opted for a first-time pass out wide to Marc Cucurella who had the freedom to look up and play a first-time cross. Oyarzabal, who didn't stop, almost slide-tackled the ball home. And, thus, this tournament had an apt winner, the only team who played like champions elect throughout. Played seven, won seven. In the process, they created a first.

Losing in a final is as tough as it gets... We done really well to get back in the game at 1-1 and then we couldn't use our momentum to push on... It's as painful as it can be in a football match. — England captain Harry Kane.

Euphoric. Very happy. All our people deserve it. The family, the fans... European champions and now we're going for the World Cup (in 2026).

COPA AMERICA

ARGENTINA'S MESSI-AH OF THE BEAUTIFUL GAME

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

NEW Jersey, 2016. Lionel Messi had just seen his side edged out by Chile on penalties in the final of the Copa America Centenario. Senior gold continued to elude Messi. In a decade of him wearing the Sky Blue, continental and/or global finals had caused him only heartache. Loss in the 2007 Copa final. Loss in the 2014 World Cup final. Loss in the 2015 Copa final. Loss in the 2016 Copa final. For a man who was used to winning an awful lot with Barcelona, his trysts with Argentina had hurt him like hell. So, eyes still wet with tears, two days after his 29th birthday, Messi announced he was walking away. The weight of the Argentina shirt had become unbearable. His continued inability to follow Diego Maradona's path had become a heavy cross to bear with.

He could own multiple Ballon d'Ors. He could have numerous Champions League titles. He may have every goal-scoring record for Barcelona. But his career was in genuine danger of being filled with regret from an Argentina perspective.

Even after he reversed the 2016 decision, there was no major immediate joy. If anything, whenever he put on the Sky Blue, it was an immediate reminder of what he hadn't achieved, a call-back to ghosts of horrors past.

In 2006, when he was sat on the bench during a penalty shootout defeat in the last eight against Germany. In 2010, where he was part of a car-crash campaign in South Africa under Maradona. In 2014, when Germany nicked it in extra time after seeing Gonzalo Higuain miss when the goal was gaping. In 2018, when they were embarrassed by France and a young Kylian Mbappe.

Add this to the Copa heartbreaks and the dream of winning something substantial with Argentina had seemingly melted away like ice on a hot day. That, though, was the feeling in the summer of 2021. Since then, Messi and a very resolute bunch of footballers have become something of a winning machine. If he was at his best for Argentina in both 2021 and 2022, this time out, he was efficient without setting the world on fire.

Sense of unity

Where he truly excelled this time was in playing the role of the side's elder statesman and leader. He offered an example during the trophy lift. He invited Nicolas Otamendi and Angel Di Maria, a bonafide Argentine great who played his final match on Sunday, to accompany him.

But then, this isn't a surprise. Messi may not be the most vocal of leaders but when he speaks, people listen. Just before Argentina faced Brazil in Brazil in the 2021 final, Messi delivered a speech that has become the stuff of legends. He had said: "Forty-five days where we travelled, ate, were locked up in hotels." "Forty-five days without seeing our families guys. Dibu had a daughter and even though he couldn't see her, he couldn't hold her in his arms. Chino also had a son and he only got to see him for a little while. All for what? For this moment. Because we had a goal and we are very close to achieving it. And you know what the best of all is? That this depends on us. That's why we're going to go out on the pitch, and we're going to raise the cup. The last thing, with this I finish, there are no coincidences guys. This Cup was going to be played in Argentina but God wanted it to be played in Brazil so that we can win it at the Maracana and make it more beautiful for all of us. So, go out to the pitch confident and calm, we will take this cup home (the speech has been immortalised in a documentary, 'Sean Eternos: Campeones de America')."

That sense of unity — all for one and one for all — has come to define the team over the last three years. It was evident when a shattered Messi cried his guts out after being forced off with an ankle injury on Sunday. He didn't want to possibly go off in this manner in what could yet be his final competitive game for Albiceleste. As he was crying, Leandro Paredas offered him a shoulder. In the stands, people were crying with Messi. An hour later, as Sunday turned to Monday in Miami, Martinez slammed home what turned out to be the winner.

Djokovic vows Wimbledon return despite clock ticking

AGENCIES @ London

NOVAK Djokovic insists he will return to Wimbledon next year and attempt to clinch an eighth All England Club title despite a shattering straight-sets defeat to Carlos Alcaraz in Sunday's final. Djokovic saw his hopes of a record-setting 25th Grand Slam title ruthlessly brushed aside by the 21-year-old Spanish star who had also defeated the Serb in last year's championship match.

Even though the clock is ticking on Djokovic's career, he said he will keep playing into 2025, when he will turn 38.

Novak Djokovic

"As far as coming back here, I would love to. I don't have anything else in my thoughts right now that this is my last Wimbledon," he said after his 6-2, 6-2, 7-6 (4) loss. "I don't have any limitations in my mind. I still want to keep going and play as long as I feel like I can play on this high level."

So far this season Djokovic has seen his Australian Open title pass to Jannik Sinner, the 22-year-old Italian who has also taken his world number one ranking. Alcaraz succeeded him as French Open champion in Paris last month, where Djokovic was forced to withdraw before his quarterfinal due to a knee injury which then required surgery.

Djokovic is due to return to the French capital in under two weeks' time, when he will try to win an elusive Olympic Games gold medal. After that, he will attempt to defend his US Open title in New York.

"I have intentions to play the Olympic Games, hopefully have a chance to fight for a medal for my country," he said.

"On a completely different surface (clay) obviously, going back to the place where I got injured some weeks ago. Let's see how physically and mentally I'm going to feel."

RIDE SAFE INDIA

A Hero MotoCorp CSR INITIATIVE

The New Indian Express Group, in collaboration with Hero MotoCorp, launched the second chapter of the Ride Safe India CSR campaign in major cities including Kochi, Coimbatore, Bengaluru, Chennai, Bhubaneswar, and Ahmedabad between June 18 and June 29, 2024. The awareness campaign was highlighted by bike rallies and the distribution of 1,200 free helmets and T-shirts at key locations in the cities. The campaign aimed to address the rising number of casualties in bike accidents, primarily due to head injuries.

The main objective of the campaign was to educate riders on the critical importance of wearing helmets to save lives and reduce severe injuries during road accidents, and to promote the regular use of helmets as a standard safety practice.

Among the dignitaries who inaugurated the various events were Chief Ministers, Governors, Mayors, Ministers, MLAs, MLCs, judges, bureaucrats; officers from the police, fire services, government and banks; as well as academics. The activities were organised at key locations such as Raj Bhavan and the Chief Minister's office in Karnataka, the Greater Chennai Corporation (GCC) - Ripon Building, educational institutions, railway museums, tech parks, hotels, post offices, courts, malls, fire stations, Police Commissioner's offices, Olympic associations/clubs, the Isha Foundation, Hero MotoCorp outlets, and traffic signals.

The reach of the campaign was amplified through print, digital, social media, and on-ground activities and impacted 90 million people. The awareness drive was featured prominently in major editions of The New Indian Express Group's print and digital publications, with a reach of 70 million through these channels, and an additional 20 million through on-ground activities.

Ensuring comprehensive coverage, a team of journalists and photographers was deployed throughout the campaign period to cover the event, with the editorial desk continuously reporting the stories for print and online platforms. Additionally, the social media and brand team actively promoted the content on Facebook, Twitter (X), Instagram, Koo, LinkedIn, and YouTube with 675 posts from the group's social media handles.

An estimated 3,541 photographs and videos were taken during the campaign from the chosen cities.

In his message to the group, Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan said, "road safety is a matter of serious concern and my government has been endeavoring to bring down road accidents and casualties in Kerala".

Kerala Minister for Industry and Law P Rajeev appreciated the campaign and said it would benefit two-wheeler riders as Kerala has the highest vehicle density.

Coimbatore Collector Coimbatore Kranthi Kumar Pati said "road accidents are audited in road safety meetings and the major causes for accidents were rash driving and driver negligence". He added that to avoid these one must internalize safe driving.

Director and CEO of The New Indian Express Group Lakshmi Menon thanked the support extended by GCC for the Ride Safe India campaign and said "wearing helmets is not just for your safety but for the future of your family."

Mayor R Priya lauded the initiative and said "riders must not be lethargic by not wearing helmets".

Kerala Minister for Revenue K Rajan emphasised safe riding habits and appreciated the campaign objective.

Editorial Director of The New Indian Express Prabhu Chawla said there is a high number of casualties due to riders not wearing helmets.

DCP Traffic Ahmedabad (East Zone) Mr Safin Hasan said "accidents happen in any society but losing a life is dangerous". One must wear a helmet to protect oneself from the traffic mistakes of other riders.

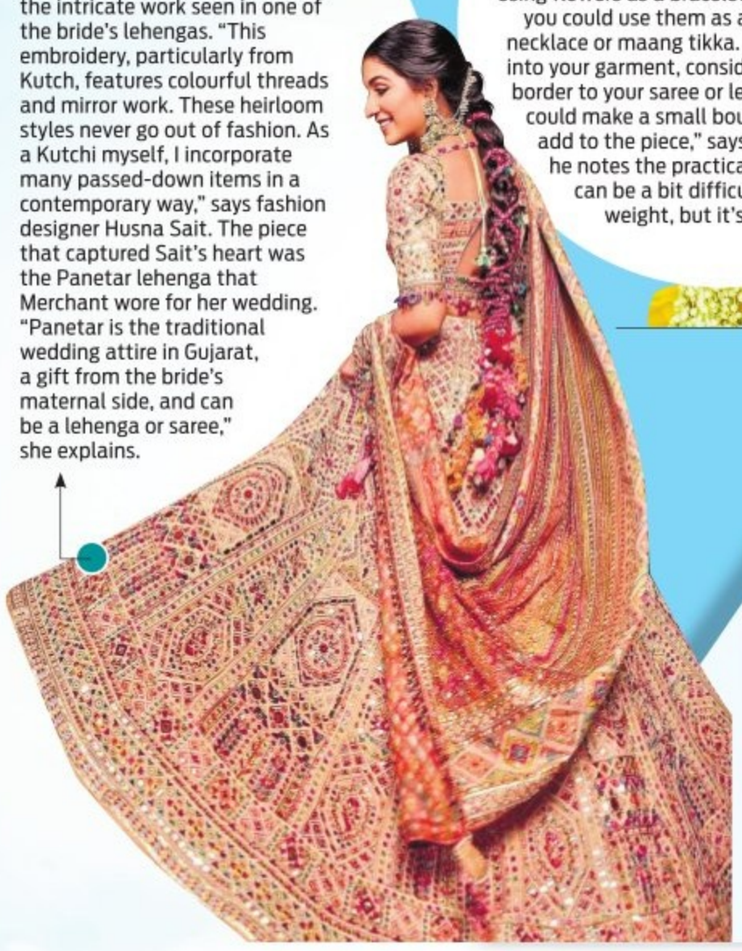
FLORAL BLOOM

If not the full floral dupatta like Merchant's, there are smart and minimalist ways to add flowers to your wedding look. Designer Aryan Naidu suggests using flowers as a bracelet. "Not just a bracelet; you could use them as any jewellery, like a necklace or maang tikka. To incorporate them into your garment, consider adding them as a border to your saree or lehenga dupatta. You could make a small bouquet of flowers to add to the piece," says Naidu. However, he notes the practical challenges: "It can be a bit difficult due to the weight, but it's worth it."

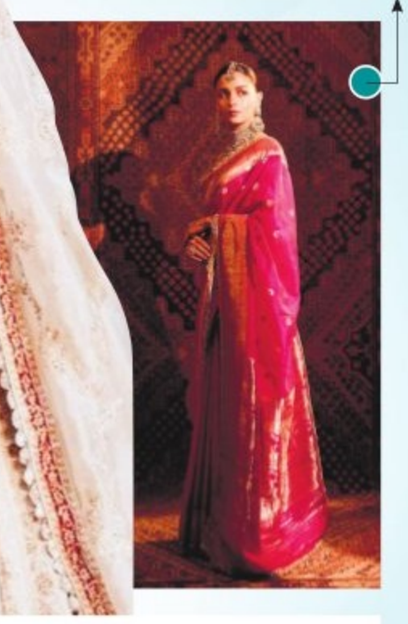


BEST OF TRADITION

The wedding showcased Indian handlooms at their finest. One standout was the multicoloured hand embroidery. Aishwarya Rai Bachchan wore a vibrant embroidered Anarkali, similar to the intricate work seen in one of the bride's lehengas. "This embroidery, particularly from Kutch, features colourful threads and mirror work. These heirloom styles never go out of fashion. As a Kutchi myself, I incorporate many passed-down items in a contemporary way," says fashion designer Husna Sait. The piece that captured Sait's heart was the Panetar lehenga that Merchant wore for her wedding. "Panetar is the traditional wedding attire in Gujarat, a gift from the bride's maternal side, and can be a lehenga or saree," she explains.

TIMELESS OPULENCE

Brocades are not new, but designer Reshma Kunhi points out their varied uses. "There were many multi-panelled Benares brocade lehengas in warm colours, radiating an aura of opulence and tradition. Alia Bhatt's heritage Benarasi saree also featured beautiful brocade work," says Kunhi. She adds that if you don't want to glam up traditional brocades with gems, you can use multicoloured gems and crystals elaborately to create a stunning visual symphony of luxury.



A REGAL TOUCH

While women's fashion was prominent, some men's styles also turned heads. Reshma Kunhi makes a special mention of the brooch, which gives a regal look. "Brooches were a major statement piece at Anant and Radhika's wedding, worn by the groom throughout the festivities. The right jewellery adds a glam effect to any outfit, lifting the look and making you stand out. If you're looking to style your existing kurtas, a brooch is a simple and effective way to do it," says Kunhi.

MONIKA MONALISA

WITH the months-long wedding festivities of Anant Ambani and Radhika Merchant having finally concluded, we can take a moment to appreciate the rich culture and heritage of Indian handlooms, which were the highlight of the festivities.

WORDS FROM SOUTH

This upcoming literary festival is bringing together over 300 prominent personalities from across South India to highlight the importance of regional literature

POOJA DAS

EVERY book serves as a portal to a distinct universe, offering readers a glimpse into diverse cultures, histories, and perspectives. Yet, some voices and worlds remain hidden like diamonds in the rough. India's literary landscape has long been dominated by literature in a few languages, overshadowing the vast contributions of regional literature. Recognising this gap, the Book Brahma Literature Festival (BBLF), a three-day event dedicated to celebrating the rich literary heritage of South Indian languages, is set to be held in Bengaluru from August 9 to 11 at St John's Auditorium in Koramangala.

"There are a lot of literature festivals in India and abroad. Most of the literary focus in India is oriented towards English literature. For the last 3,000 years, Indian languages have contributed significantly to shaping world literature, but this contribution is not well recognised. So, we have decided to start a South Indian Literature Festival which is set to be one of the biggest Indian language literature festivals in the world," says Satish Chapparike, the festival's director.

The inaugural edition of the festival brings together over 300 authors from all South Indian languages – Kannada, Tamil, Telugu, and Malayalam – including those who write in English. Chapparike has received positive responses from delegates, authors, and publishers. "We've already got around 2,000 registrations," he says. The roster of speakers is confirmed, featuring renowned names like the Sahitya Akademi Award-winning Malayalam poet K Satchidanandan, renowned Kannada author Vivek Shanbhag, eminent Tamil author and scholar Perumal Murugan, along with celebrated Kannada poets like Mamta Sagar and Jayant Kaikini.

Additionally, the festival will also feature a publisher's conclave and roundtable discussions on facilitating rising authors. "The main theme is 'to bind everyone together'. The idea is to unite all authors, languages, and publishers," says Chapparike. Besides art and literature, the festival will also showcase cultural performances with artistes like National Award-winning actor Prakash Raj, Carnatic music pioneer RK Padmanabha, dancer Meghna Chandramouli, and more. "This is a first-of-its-kind festival because our vision includes literature, culture, art, and more. We see literature more holistically as it encompasses the entire cultural spectrum. Our goal is to ensure everyone knows about the contributions of Indian literature," he adds.

This monthly meetup at Cubbon Park fosters interactions between enthusiasts of all things Japan and Japanese residents of Bengaluru

Finding Middle Ground

MEGHA MANOJ

IN recent years, there's been a growing interest among Bengalureans in Japanese culture and language, largely fueled by the increasing popularity of Japanese pop culture such as anime and manga. Japan Habba, the annual cultural festival that spotlights the best of Japan in Bengaluru, has long been a hub for enthusiasts of the Japanese language and culture. For those looking for more frequent interactions, Minna Shuugou! Cubbon Park offers a regular event that brings together locals interested in Japanese culture and the nearly 1,000-strong Japanese community in Bengaluru, bridging the gap between each edition of Japan Habba.

"Japan Habba takes place only once a year, so we wanted to create a platform where Indian people who study Japanese and Japanese residents can meet regularly and build a sense of community," shares Meghna Vijaykumar, who co-founded the initiative alongside Saori Sarkar, a Bengaluru resident of Japanese origin, and Nivi Pal, a city-based techie. "We don't have any high objectives. We just meet for fun. If anyone has the slightest interest, they can show up," adds Saori, who has lived in India for nearly 15 years.

Established in October 2023, Minna Shuugou! Cubbon Park has quickly gained traction, attracting over 800 members. Meetings are held on the second Sunday of every month at 10am in Cubbon Park. "Before this, other Japanese communities required a high level of Japanese proficiency or were specific to anime clubs. This is a great middle-ground where everyone can join, even if they don't know Japanese," explains Pal.

Recently, Minna Shuugou! Cubbon Park hosted celebrations of Tanabata, a traditional Japanese festival also known as the Star Festival, honouring the meeting of deities Orihime and Hikoboshi. Participants wrote wishes on Japanese paper, tied them to bamboo branches alongside beautiful origami pieces they crafted. The event saw an impressive turnout, reflecting the growing interest in Japanese traditions. "It starts with wanting to improve your language, but soon it becomes more about getting to know the culture and making new friends," shares a regular participant. "I really enjoyed my first Minna Shuugou! It's great for socialising. I have made many friends here," adds another attendee.

The initiative has also fostered strong ties with the local Japanese community in Bengaluru. "So many Indian people are enthusiastic about Japan and Japanese culture," says Yu, a Japanese resident who volunteers at these events. "Most of them are young, which is exciting to see."

The events often conclude with social outings, thanks to a collaboration with the Bengaluru Foodies Club (BFC). "After the event, we all go out together and eat," shares an admin from BFC. "Saori-San suggested that we collaborate, and it's been great."

(The next event is slated for August 11. For more details, follow @minnashuugou on Instagram)

DEAR LIFE

Novelist, Illustrator, Speaker

My workplace is toxic as I'm surrounded by people who show fake concern and play office politics. It is affecting my performance and mental health. I am unable to find another job. Please help.

Dealing with office politics can be extremely stressful. You cannot control it, but you can reframe your narrative about it. Are all the people at work fake? Identify at least one or two you can trust and build a genuine connection with them. Minimise your interactions with others. Make a strong internal value chart for yourself. Be friendly to your colleagues, but also create an impenetrable mental shield based on your value system so that their behaviour does not affect you. The best way to deal with office politics is to strengthen your resilience and maintain your integrity. Avoid responding to anything when agitated, and consider the reasons behind another person's behaviour. Vent to a trusted friend and never a co-worker, as workplace confidences are not usually kept. Stop feeling trapped and channel your frustration into gratitude. What do you love about your job? Separate your personal life from work and develop hobbies that bring you joy so that your sense of validation is not coming only from your job.

This, also known as Ananda Balasana Variation, is a beginner-level base and Restorative Yoga Pose originating from the traditional form of Hatha Yoga. This stretches the groin, adductors (inner thighs), and knees. It strengthens the pelvic floor, the psoas muscles, and the hip flexors. This can lengthen and decompress the spine. This pose helps release accumulated stress and negative energies in the areas of the lower back and hips. This can be introduced in the third trimester of pregnancy and for postnatal yoga after the initial healing time of eight weeks.

STEPS

- Relax your arms and slowly bend your elbows. Do not crunch your shoulders.
- Roll back the shoulders away from the ears. Place them on the mat and avoid lifting them.
- Keep your head steady.
- Try to bring your legs closer to the abdomen but don't collapse the knees. Consciously widen it away.
- Stay here, feel the opening of your thighs and hips.
- Breathe here, and try to open the groin a little further with every exhale.
- Stay in the pose as per your capacity.
- Slowly release the pose and do Seated Ankle Rotations and Toes Bending to release the numbness in feet.
- Finally, get back to Savasana and relax.

BENEFITS

- Stretches the groin, adductors (inner thighs), knees, gluteus maximus, minimus muscles, and piriformis muscle.
- Strengthens the knees, pelvic floor, psoas muscles, and hip flexors.
- Releases the stiffness and tightness from the pelvic floor and hips.
- Increases the agility and flexibility of the pelvic joints.
- Supports the upper, middle, and lower backs.
- Effective in increasing lung capacity.
- Increases blood circulation in the pelvic floor.
- Activates the parasympathetic nervous system.
- Helps energise the body.
- Increases the efficiency of the intestines and relaxes the sphincter muscles.
- Help with the secretion of hormones that govern metabolism, excretion, immunity, etc.
- Stimulates the ovaries, prostate gland, and bladder.
- Relieves lower back pain and addresses the base of the spine.
- Helps access the thoracic and lumbar fascias.
- Pregnant women in the third trimester can practise this.

LIMITATIONS

- In case of any injury to the groin or knee, or if you have rheumatoid arthritis or have undergone knee, ankle, or hip surgery, avoid this pose.
- Senior citizens with weak knees and ankles, and women in their third trimester should avoid this pose.
- Though it is a therapy for kidney, knees and reproductive ailments, it needs to be avoided in case of major kidney problems, osteoporosis, weak knee joints, and degenerated spine.

B'LURU UNPLUGGED

Exploring the many facets of Bengaluru, many residents and newcomers alike are opting for unique experiences like pub trails and 'startup tours' to discover the city's charm

MONIKA MONALISA

THROUGHOUT its history, Bengaluru has distinguished itself with its unique culture and rich heritage. As a startup hub, pub capital, and garden city, there are many aspects to explore, whether you're a long-time resident or new to the city. Avinash Raju, a techie, chose to learn more about the city through its watering holes, opting for pub trails over historical walks. "Bengaluru is known for its craft beers, and in the cantonment areas, there are many old pubs. I wanted to explore that. These pubs are testaments to how the city evolved into the craft beer capital of the country," says Raju.

Vinay Parameswarappa, founder of Gully Tours, organises a walk called Tipsy Near Thippasandra. "It is a pub crawl in the bars near Indiranagar to help you understand the drinking culture in the city. It's relevant because the city has a huge drinking history. At one point, when the whole country was dry, it was Bengaluru that was serving alcohol," claims Parameswarappa. He also mentions the trail is fun because it offers a taste of Bengaluru that is very different from the modern pubs that dot the city today.

Bengaluru is also known for its startups. Parameswarappa organises 'startup walks' as well. "If Indiranagar is the area to explore pubs, then HSR is the area for startups. It's interesting to learn about these work cultures and how different they are from the MNCs that Bengaluru is also known for," he says, adding that initially, these walks were private, but now they are open to the public.

Long before pubs and startups, Bengaluru earned the title of a garden city. Abhishek Khan took it upon himself to ensure people take some time to appreciate the native flora of the city. His fragrance walk at Lalbagh introduces people to the various scents in the garden that many often miss in their busy lives. "The walk is about the different fragrances in the garden, which include both flowers and leaves. Currently, it's egg magnolia, also known as magnolia liliifera, which is in full bloom. It is one of the few indigenous flowers we have right now. It has a very distinctive smell that cannot be overpowered by anything else," says Khan.

One reason Khan wanted to offer this experience was his desire to contribute something unique to the city. "I started this walk because when I looked for more information, I couldn't find much. There are many history walks, so I thought it would be nice to do something different," he shares.

The Challenges of BEING OLD

A tuft of hair decided to rebel and turned grey, ensuring its prominence was pronounced enough for the mirror to tease me and my friends to advise me to colour it black to synchronise with the rest of my crown. "More than your resume, it is important to look young. You will be competing with the 20-year-olds," most of them cautioned.

I took the bait, for at age 30 it was not great to look grey while hunting for a job in journalism, which, like many other professions, was evolving into a new work order. So, the next day, the grey blacked out. In those days, one did not have a choice of VIBGYOR to colour their hair. It was a monochromic affair with the ultimate option of brown. This is not a fabled Grimms' 'once upon a time' introduction to the saga of a timeless yearning to stay and look young. Fast forward to now, many years from when I first coloured my hair to reassert my youth against a rebellious lock of hair. The compulsion to look young has waned, as is evident in the salt and pepper-hair of people who are at ease with the way they look. But that is it. The pressure to be young is at an all-time high. They say that age is in the mind. That is true, but in whose mind is the question?

If you have crossed your mid-50s, be prepared to answer a volley of unwarranted and unsolicited questions from the curious lot – your peers among others. Questions may range from whether you still have a job and why; if your health is okay; and if you have adequate medical health insurance, because what you have may not be enough in times of corporate healthcare and sky-high insurance. If your children are settled, how and where? And if you brazen them out with positive responses bordering on indifference, there are always more queries lurking in those dark spots of suspicion and stereotyping.

The funny thing about 'growing old' is the pile of assumptions that are heaped upon you like a garbage pile strewn around Bengaluru streets like charity. The pace at which you are supposed to wade through them without getting soiled is a tough test of your resilience. "Growing old is like being increasingly penalised for a crime you haven't committed," stated well-known costume designer Anthony Powell, and rightly so.

Joe Biden may be going through one of the toughest challenges in his long political career for being 'old.' Whatever it requires to become the President of the United States, the campaign cry this year is on being young and relevant enough to deftly handle professional pressure in an era of rapidly shifting geopolitics and heightened media scrutiny. Any slip of the tongue and gaffe is being read against Biden's slowing cognitive skills now that he is 81 and contesting for another four-year term of the presidency. That is the pressure the man occupying the highest office in the world is facing.

For those who are in their late 50s and 60s, it is no better. Peer pressure in the 'retired' years of life is gruelling and insensitive. The forced isolation in the twilight years can be testing. The greying hairline, balding head, progressive lenses, hearing aids, growing cataracts, wobbling knees, faltering steps, and mumbling to oneself to keep company are tell-tale signs of 'growing old' and the slowing down of hormones. Senescence is as natural and normal a process of human physiology as childhood, adolescence, and youth, each with its own characteristics. Why do we then taunt a stage in life embellished with years as decay?

HEALING THROUGH FORGIVING

DID you know that July 7 marked the Global Forgiveness Day? This is different from Jain traditions of Kshamavani, but has some of the same principles of forgiveness being a key aspect of healing oneself, and for promoting peace and harmony. Forgiving those who have caused harm to you and forgiving oneself for causing harm to oneself or others, are both seen as key aspects of forgiveness here and as a way to more fully come back to a state of loving grace and gratitude for oneself.

It is one thing to consider the harm done by people one doesn't necessarily love or with whom we have a relationship, and look at forgiveness of such matters. With people we don't care much about, it might not feel important at all, and it's easy to forget the whole matter. The car that cut across the traffic and blocked you is forgotten in a matter of minutes. The restaurant that served bad chutney with half-cooked dosaes might get a bad review but is quickly forgotten too. We do not necessarily need to forgive what is easily forgotten, do we?

In love and relationships, things can get much more complicated. On one hand, in the early stages of falling in love and amidst the intoxication of the infatuation, everything is forgiven easily. We do not care if the beloved came late or did not come at all as promised, and instead only fret and worry about it, and make a fuss over it when we do get to meet. We forgive slights at the slightest show of affection and are ready to wipe the slate clean without really needing any signs of remorse at all. Forgiveness comes very easily for a while when we are in that state of early love.

It doesn't last very long though – sooner or later, the pink shades drop, and we see things quite differently. When that happens, it becomes a very different deal very quickly. We start holding out, keeping track of those slights, and over time, these matters can become pretty big lists that we trot out at every opportunity to highlight how we are being wronged. The need is for not just 'sorry being said', but 'sorry being felt', and 'sorry being done'. We want apologies in action, and won't accept anything less. Sometimes, even that is not enough and we need the person's whole being to be 'sorry personified' till we decide to forgive.

Sometimes though, even that is not enough. Forgiveness is forgotten and we stay very much alert for every wrong, and when that happens, love is at risk. We may not think so at first and feel we are only trying to protect ourselves, and much as we need to do that, we also need to be careful that we don't use forgiveness as a stick in the process, and bargain with it, saying our forgiveness will be earned if such-and-such happens.

Forgiveness is an act of love for oneself and others, not a bargaining chip.

I AIM TO SET A NEW BENCHMARK WITH HEJJARU

...says Harshapriya, who discusses his debut directorial which is about parallel lives, the inspiration behind it, and it being the first of its kind in Kannada cinema

Naveen Krishna

Director Harshapriya and Gopal Krishna Deshpande on the sets of Hejjaru

A SHARADHAA

HARSHAPRIYA, a seasoned writer and director, takes pride in his debut film, Hejjaru. This unique story explores the concept of parallel lives, claiming to be the first of its kind in Kannada cinema and only the second in all of Indian cinema. Leveraging his experience as a screenwriter, lyricist, and even fiction head for an entertainment channel, Harshapriya always dreamt of launching his directorial career with an unconventional subject. With Hejjaru's release slated for July 19th, he aims to set a new benchmark for storytelling.

To begin with, it is interesting to learn where Harshapriya's idea about parallel lives came from. "There's a belief that American presidents John F Kennedy and Abraham Lincoln share some astonishingly eerie coincidences despite being separated by nearly a century. This thought inspired me to create Hejjaru, which explores parallel lives where similar incidents occur in the lives of two different people across different timelines," Harshapriya explains.

The film centers around two individuals: Rajaram, born in 1965, who experiences a significant loss and embarks on a solitary quest for justice, and Bhagat, born in 2020, who faces similar events and believes that following Rajaram's path will lead him to the answers.

Reflecting on his influences, Harshapriya mentions, "I've studied and enjoyed Christopher Nolan's storytelling. While his work is complex, which I sometimes do not understand, I aimed to make Hejjaru understandable to the ordinary viewer. It took me eight months to develop the screenplay, and I embraced the challenge of making it comprehensible while maintaining its depth. I enjoy complex stories but make them simple for the audience. I love it when people engage deeply with my narratives. I want the audience to become writers after watching the film, speculating and drawing their own conclusions."

Harshapriya acknowledges the evolving nature of cinema and the audience's growing sophistication. "There's been a shift in how people watch films, and we must adapt and innovate in our storytelling. Hejjaru brings a rare, one-in-a-million story that I hope will connect deeply with viewers."

Further, Harshapriya notes that writing for serials and feature films is different. "Working in serials taught me the art of slow storytelling, but I enjoy the fast-paced narration of films, which is adapted in Hejjaru," says Harshpriay, who extends his gratitude to his producer, K S Ramji, who believed in his vision. He also praises his cast and crew, including Bhagat Alva particularly Gopal Krishna Deshpande, whose excitement about the story translated into his performance. "Shwetha D'Souza has delivered an impressive performance despite initially struggling with the Mangalorean diction. Her dubbing and portrayal of her character will be a standout," Harshapriya adds. Naveen Krishna plays a negative role for the first time in Hejjaru, which will have an excellent background score by music director Poorachandandera.

Indrajit Lankesh dedicates a song to his late sister Gauri Lankesh in his upcoming film Gowri

Gauri Lankesh

CE FEATURES

DIRECTOR Indrajit Lankesh is all set to launch his son Samarajit Lankesh in the upcoming film, Gowri. This youth commercial entertainer, set for release on August 15, has been capturing attention since its announcement, both for its poignant tribute to Indrajith's late sister and its songs. The film is named after his elder sister, the late journalist and activist Gauri Lankesh, who was tragically shot dead in Bengaluru in 2017.

Indrajit has now dedicated a song to his sister Gauri as a heartfelt gesture. On Monday, the makers released two songs, one of which chronicles Gauri's journey through unseen pictures with evocative lyrics penned by K Kalyan. The song, composed by Jassie Gift, is crooned by Kailash Kher.

"When Kalyan and I started crafting the title lyrics, we searched for a symbolic connection to my sister. The visuals and lines are meant as a heartfelt tribute to Gauri," he says further clarifying that the film is not about Gauri's incident. "There's a misconception that what happened to Gauri is part of the film's storyline. I want to assure you, her story is not being used for promotional purposes. Though the film is a youth romantic thriller, I named it after my sister to honour her without making her story a direct part of the film," says Indrajith.

Further elaborating on the process of crafting the lyrics, Indrajith explains, "I envisioned K Kalyan crafting symbolic lyrics that honored Gauri's story while seamlessly weaving it into the film's narrative. Kalyan knew Gauri well, and we had numerous discussions before finalising the lines. Through his unique style of writing, often scribbling notes on tissue papers over a cup of tea, he penned meaningful lines about my sister."

The makers have also released another song, 'Muddada,' a romantic track unveiled by the Monalisa pair, Sada and Dhyan, as they celebrated 20 years of the film Monalisa, directed by Indrajit Lankesh.

With Samarjit as lead, Gowri will feature Sanya Iyer, marking her debut on the silver screen, alongside Sweezal, Chandu Gowda, and other notable actors in key roles. With music directors Jassie Gift and Chandan Shetty composing the music, the film will feature cinematography by AJ Shetty.

Rakshit Shetty's Paramvah Studios faces copyright infringement charges over songs in Bachelor Party

CE FEATURES

ACTOR, director, and producer Rakshit Shetty is at the center of a copyright controversy. His production house, Paramvah Studios, faces an FIR for allegedly using songs from the Kannada films and Gaali Maathu without proper permissions in their recent production, Bachelor Party.

The FIR was filed by Naveen Kumar, representing MRT Music. His company claims significant investment in acquiring rights to classic Kannada songs. The complaint alleges that the makers of Bachelor Party have used the iconic titular song from the film Nyaya Ellide (1982) and 'Omme Ninnannu' from Gaali Maathu (1981) without acquiring proper permissions. According to Kumar, discussions regarding the use of these songs took place in January 2024, but no formal consent was granted. Nonetheless, the songs were prominently featured in Bachelor Party upon its release on an OTT platform in March 2024.

Bachelor Party, written and directed by Abhijit Mahesh, was released in theatres on January 26. The comedy film stars Diganth Manchale, Yogesh, and Achyuth Kumar and was produced by G S Gupta and Rakshit Shetty under the Paramvah Studios banner. The producers are yet to issue an official statement regarding the allegations.

Prawin Avyukth

A still from the film

CE FEATURES

PRAWIN AVYUKTH is currently gearing up for the release of Hiranya, his directorial debut starring Rajavardan, produced by Vigneshwar and Vijay Kumar under the Vedas Infinite Pictures banner. His path from directing short films like Saha, Gumma, and Kalla Kannu to navigating feature films hasn't been easy, he admits. "Whether directing shorts or full-length cinema, clarity is key," asserts the director, acknowledging the challenges of building teams and navigating the complexities of larger productions.

"From childhood, the applause and whistles in cinema halls spurred my ambition to become a director," Prawin reveals passionately. He goes on to delve into Hiranya's intriguing mix of action-thriller elements, suspenseful storytelling, and a climax that resonates. "The protagonist in Hiranya is a contract killer, more of an anti-hero with devilish thoughts," Avyukth explains. "The storyline was inspired by a thought-provoking video of a pig and two lions, shaping the narrative into a gripping tale."

Prawin reveals that choosing Rajavardan for the lead role was a deliberate decision. "I needed a hero with a larger-than-life presence, someone akin to Darshan or Sudeep. Being a newcomer, I couldn't reach out to them," Avyukth shares. "Rajavardan's previous work in Bichhugatti showcased his versatility, making him the perfect fit for this commercial entertainer."

Rihana plays the female lead in Hiranya, which marks her debut. The film will also feature former Bigg Boss contestant Divya Suresh, Huli Karthik, Arvind Rao, and Dilip Shetty in pivotal roles. While the action is pivotal in commercial entertainers, Prawin stresses the importance of substantial content in Hiranya. "For me, it's not just about spectacle; it's about meaningful storytelling," he signs off.
